Diamonds: the Best Way to Let Her Know What She Means to You by Bridget Rossi

Article published on February 28th 2012 | Shopping

A birthday is one of the things that a man should never forgetâ€“especially if it's his fiancÃ©â€™s. Women being what they are, she is bound not to mention a thing about her upcoming birthday, belying the fact that itâ€™s an important day for her. Remembering her special day without needing a reminder will speak to her of how important she is to you, and how much you value your relationship.

Despite modern women being highly independent, they still love being pampered. So if you ask what she wants for her birthday and she says, "Oh, nothing," donâ€™t believe it. "Oh, nothing" is woman-speak for anything from â€œsurprise meâ€• to â€œwell, Iâ€™ve been dropping hints all week.â€• If youâ€ what to get her, a good piece jewelry is bound to do the trick.

Buying jewelry for a woman is like playing a game of Russian roulette; if you get it wrong, youâ€™re dead. The way a woman fixes herself up reflects her personal tastesâ€”which translates to jewelry. Keep in mind HER preferences instead of your own, so you donâ€™t end up picking out something sheâ€™ hate.

If you buy the wrong gift and end up with polite smile followed by, "You REALLY shouldn't have," things wonâ€™t bode well for you. Diamonds are probably the safest way to go. Theyâ€™re a womanâ€™ friend for good reason: the stones symbolizeâ€”to use another clichÃ©â€”forever. Getting her a gift of diamonds reiterates your commitment to the relationship.

Diamonds come in various sizes and price ranges, so shop around and find something that appeals to you. There are number of jewelry stores Indianapolis residents can pick fromâ€”some carry extremely high-end jewelry while some have more budget-friendly merchandise. Make it a point, though, to buy your diamond jewelry only from reputable jewelers.

If youâ€™re looking for a good Indiana diamond jeweler, there are a number of really good stores that carry a mix of diamond choices to suit your pocket. If you donâ€™t know much about diamonds, seek help from the shopâ€™s personnelâ€”more often than not, theyâ€™ll be happy to explain how to pick out a piece. In choosing diamonds, carat, clarity, color, and the cutâ€”known as the 4Câ€™sâ€”will define the st intrinsic value and, ultimately, selling price.

While diamonds are pricier than other precious stones, theyâ€™re also a good investment. To maximize your investment, take time to explore the various Internet sites to find out which jewelry store Indianapolis residents prefer, and why.
