Pet memorials : a befitting tribute to the best companions by Hipolit Jan

Article published on January 21st 2012 | Shopping

People who are a part of our lives become an inseparable part of our memory.How much ever we may accept their loss, their persistent absence can never substituted with anyone else. Whether its our relatives, friends or pets,the loss cannot be compensated by any amount of condolence or consolation. Whether expressed or not , the loss is felt. Memorial pendants are an attempt to keep the lost loved ones close to the heart so as to maintain their symbolic presence. Pet memorials are little tokens of reciprocation of the selfless unconditional love bestowed on us by the pets. Pet cremation jewelry lets us retain a small part of their mortal remains by incorporating a small amount of cremation ash into the pendants.

Pet Memorials can be in the form of pet urns to store and display the cremated petâ€™s ashes, pet cremation jewelry, sculpted memorials, grave markers and laser engraved plaques.Each of these harbours the memories of the departed companion and honours the special relation the benign creature shared with the family.

Pet urns are available in various designs and materials. These are used to store the the ashes of the lost pet. These can be used for display purpose either indoors or outdoors in nonour of the deceased friend. These may be made of wood ,porcelain or marble and can be engraved with a photograph of the pet.

Memorial pendants are a special way of holding on to the memories close to the heart. These may be in the form of pet cremation jewelry which are designed to store a small amount of cremation ash in a compartment within the pendant which can be secured with a screw. Cremation diamonds are laboratory created diamonds which contain carbon derived from the deceased petâ€™s ashes. Theses are a befitting tribute to the special companion .Memorial pendants can also be designed to store some amount of the deceased animalâ€™s hair.

Memorial pendants are also designed to display the petâ€™s photograph. Laser engraved photographs on metals can also be used as pendants .Little pet urns can also be attached to a chain and worn around the neck. Many other miscellaneous designs are also available which revives the cherished memories of their deceased pet.

Sculpted pet memorials are the sculpted likeness of the departed animal in simulated natural stone .These are available in a wide range of sizes and can be used for display either indoors or outdoors .Compartments in these can be used to store the patâ€™s ashes. Thus these sculpted memorials not only beautify the ambience, they are a unique way to store ashes as compared to conventional urns.

Garden pet cremation markers are granite grave markers which have the engravement of the petâ€™s name and picture. These can be used as a marker for the spot of burial of cremation remains. These may also have a hollowed out space to store some of the ashes.

All these pet memorials help in keeping alive the memories of the loving companions who gave us unconditional love and affection.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/shopping-articles/pet-memorials-a-befitting-tribute-to-the-best-companions.htm - Article Side

Hipolit Jan - About Author:
The above description describes about the a Ashes Diamond as a means to keep alive the memory of the departed pets. a Cremation Diamonds constantly revive their memories and the beautiful relationship shared with the pet. These help in coming to terms with loss .

Article Keywords:
pet memorials, ashes diamond, cremation diamonds, memorial diamond, memorial diamonds, ashes pendants, cremation memorial, memorial pendant, cremation pendant, ashes pendant, pet cremation jewelry, cremation jewelry, urn jewelry, remembrance jewelry, keep

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!