Article Side

Moving to the Land of Opportunities by John James

Article published on May 21st 2012 | Society

Immigration refers to the movement of people from one country to another country in order to reside in the latter permanently. Immigration to Canada refers to the entry of people from around the world into the country for economic, political, or other issues. Over the years, hundreds of people have opted for immigration to Canada due to economic instability or political upheaval in their own countries or even due to family issues. Canada has always been known to accept peoples from different parts of the world, irrespective of their backgrounds, through most of its history. In fact, almost every citizen in Canada would have been an immigrant or would have come from an immigrant family. Canada has become home to people of several ethnic communities such as Indians, South Asians, Filipinos, Africans, Chinese, and many others including the dominant majority who are French and English speaking people.

Different Types of Canadian Immigrants

People who opt for immigration to Canada are of four categories. These include the Family class- where the immigrants have relations who already live and/or are citizens of the country-, economic immigrants, -which include business people, skilled workers, etc.-, others who are immigrants who are allowed to immigrate on the basis of compassionate and humanitarian ideologies, and refugees who are those who are either escaping injustice, persecution, war, or famine in their own counties.

Advantages of Consulting A Canadian Immigration Consultant

A Canadian immigration consultant is someone who helps an immigrant in non-legal issues when they enter the country. Immigration consultants are necessary to help in the process of immigration. They are reliable and their assistance is crucial, especially if you do not know the language or the process of immigration very well. Canadaâ€™s immigration consultants help in translation, filling out forms, petitions, and for gathering any documents that are required. However, Canadian immigration consultants cannot offer any legal help to the client. Unlike an immigration lawyer, an immigration consultant cannot advise his/her client on how to answer immigration forms or any other documents. The consultant is responsible for merely assisting his/her client throughout the procedure.

Canadian Immigration Lawyers

For any advice or assistance on legal procedures or court appearances during immigration, you would have to turn to a Canadian immigration lawyer. An immigration lawyer assists and advises immigrants about the laws and procedures regarding settlement and employment of new arrivals in Canada. A canada immigration lawyerscanada immigration lawyers are well versed in International Immigration Law, thorough with the immigration system, and many of them are multi lingual, thus enabling them to converse with people of many nationalities who try to enter the country. Apart from the usual immigration issues, immigration lawyers may also work on cases where they can represent people who have been deported for specific reasons and can even work on cases that deal with important international issues such as human trafficking. It is advisable to use an immigration lawyer as he/she can guide you every step of the way, throughout the procedure. You can be informed of any legal changes or changes in immigration law and you can be sure that your lawyer will stand by you in the event that there is a case involved.is a case involved.

Article Source:

http://www.articleside.com/society-articles/moving-to-the-land-of-opportunities.htm - Article Side

John James - About Author:
Find more information a immigration to Canada, canada immigration lawyers and a canada immigration consultants at our website. Please visit here bellallianceglobal.com.

Article Keywords:
immigration to Canada, canada immigration consultants, canada immigration lawyers

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!