Quite often is it seen that whenever you are prepared to share your feelings with the girl you like, as soon as she is in front of you, you tend to forget everything and blabber all unnecessary stuff.

In other situations you might not convey your feelings because you feel that the girl will not like you or may feel offensive. On the contrary, may be the girl also likes you and is waiting for you to approach first. The main problem guys find and is a common topic of discussion among the group is how to attract a girl.

Attracting a girl is no more a rocket science. Escape from the cheesy lines and be normal. There are basic ways to attract girls but boys normally tend to forget or ignore them. Taking it to be a simple task most guys go out with the contemporary style of approaching girls. Wake up boys! Itâ€™s the 21st century and girls donâ€™t pay heed to guys being cheesy. All you have to do is follow few simple tips to attract girls and see the difference.

Self confidence is the first requisite for getting the girl attracted to you. With your self-confidence and intelligence, you can conquer all your shyness and attract any girl whom you yearn to be with you. While you can arrive at a huge set of tips to attract girls, any set of such tips will not thrive until you attain enough self-confidence in your own self and a sense of serenity and self control so that when you approach a girl, you may not feel dejected or lack words to start a pleasant and exciting conversation.

Attempt to look as good as you can and pay consider your hygiene. This doesn't mean you have to spend your wealth on your clothes. Guarantee that your clothes are always washed and you smell good. One thing that girls hate is a guy who eyes up all the girls around him. You will not acquire any dates by chasing every woman in the town. In fact it will just get you a bad standing. So shun this kind of behavior at all costs and you will find that girls are much more fascinated to you. Remember one thing, girls always like attention and feel special when you look only at them. If you are caught trailing other girls, you will be left all alone.

Get in shape or if you are already silhouette stay that way. This helps those good clothes look even better when you wear them. Women are in awe of men who are in good physical condition and feel more engrossed to them than out-of-shape guys. So consume a healthy diet and lift weights along with some occasional aerobic workout 3 times a week and this will help a lot to get girls notice you.

Avoid doing what every other guy does, most gorgeous girls have seen this so many times that it irks them to death. Don't tender to buy her a drink straight away or use any cheesy or practiced chat up lines. What works really fine is just rolling up and introducing yourself with a grin on your face.
