Dil wallo ki Dilli has now added another feather to its cap. From being a city of food and archeology lovers, to now being synonymous to comfort and luxury living, Delhi is one of the fastest and most versatile cities in the entire world. One can try and try and keep on trying but to capture the pulse of the city is a task next to impossible. However, coming back to the use of comfort and luxury living in Delhi, do not misunderstand it for the swanking new villas, gated communities, luxury resorts or the multi-storey apartments. These have been a part of Delhi ever since the very inception of the modern city. We are not talking about these assets, but we are talking about the comfort and luxury in living in service apartment in Delhi.

The monopoly that hotels enjoyed for almost a decade in Delhi was broken after the concept of service apartment Delhi started gaining heat. Soon enough, service apartment in Delhi became rather a common ground and more and more people started catching up to experience the difference. Service apartment delhi are a better, more beautiful and more cost effective variant that are now available in some of the most prime locations and posh colonies.

Now say no to al those troublesome times when one had to struggle to book a hotel room well in advance, with the coming of service apartment in Delhi, finding a comfortable and safe place to spend a few days in this city is just a matter of a few minutes. In fact, with the increasing popularity of the service apartment Delhi concept, the cost of per person sty with food has come down greatly. Given the competition within the hotel and service apartment industry, consumers are the ones to benefit most. Top quality food, great service and great price coupled together make what a successful service apartment in Delhi is.

In fact, the sudden spurt in the numbers of service apartment Delhi has lead to the expansion of the concept in a great way. Now, with the merging of NCR and the ever-expanding boundaries, Gurgaon too has been caught in the development fray. Service apartments in Gurgaon are equally popular. Just like Delhi, there are a lot of choices for the consumers when it comes to service apartments in Gurgaon and all promise great prices and quality and services on par with luxury resorts.
