Take a Tour to the Enthralling City of Delhi by Robert Connor

Article published on June 28th 2012 | Travel

Many passionate travellers go on an excursion to their chosen destinations every year to leave the worries behind and to cut the stress out. Summer is already knocking your door and trying to initiate a conversation with you to take up a vacation abroad. Did you ever visit Delhi? The proud capital of India has so much in its bag to offer something to the people of all ages. The city sees an influx of the travellers coming to the city from all over the world. It is one of the major tourist destinations that are packed with so many highlights that are enough to blow your mind. However, you would not be able to derive the most of the attractions if due to some reason or the other, you run short of time. So, you have to ensure that you have enough time at hand to hop on every attraction.

The city of Delhi is steeped in rich history and culture and has witnessed the rise and fall of several empires that once were in their utmost supremacy. You can take flights to Delhi if you hold a deep fascination for flipping over the folded pages of olden times when Delhi was not the capital of India. As soon as you touch down on the ground of Delhi, donâ€™t let the time slip by when it comes to taking a look at your itinerary. It is generally recommended that the tourists who are paying a visit for the first time to the amazing city should take at least a three-day tour if they want to hop on every attraction of significance.

Delhi is categorized into two parts: Old Delhi and New Delhi. Letâ€™s get started with Old Delhi first, shall we? Old Delhi has its own charm and significance when the Mughal Emperors began the construction of various forts and monuments for which Old Delhi is widely known. These historical attractions are dipped in primeval epoch that leaks the hidden facts from every corner you come across. On the other hand, New Delhi is very sophisticated and is packed with upscale markets, bars, restaurants and hotels.

You can take a tour to the below mentioned attractions that are worth a watch:

Â»Red Fort

Â»Qutub Minar

Â»Raj Ghat

Â»Lotus Temple

Â»Humayunâ€™s Tomb

Â»Parliament House

Â»Jantar Mantar

Â»The National Museum

Â»Jama Masjid

Want to take your taste buds on an exciting trip? Several people book flights to Delhi to taste various mouth-watering cuisines such as Thai, French, Italian, Continental and the list does not stop.
