Spirituality matters a lot to people. Such people are so inclined towards divine powers and divinity that for them there is nothing else beyond that. For people who sleep, eat, walk and talk spirituality, thus, now there is what is popularly known as Buddhist tourism.

This type of tourism covers the significant places related to the religion in the country. You can easily go for such a type of tour when you want to get in touch with your spiritual side more closely. A lot remains unexplored about the teachings of Buddha and the rich architecture that the teachings have inspired, most of which are built by his strict follower King Ashoka. You can discover a lot more than you can imagine if you choose to embark on such a divine journey.

An experience that will be engraved in your memory is guaranteed if you are a follower of Buddha and his mind awakening teachings. Sites that will take your breath away, sites that were visited by Gautama Buddha himself, sites where his followers teach the lessons of the Buddhism and a lot more is what is in store for the people who are inclined towards Buddhist tourism.

Lumbini, Kushinagar and Bodh Gaya are amongst the famous spots in India that are covered by such a tour. The last of them all is located in Bihar and is utterly famous as a toruist spot for many devout Buddhists. This is because Bodh Gaya is known to be the location where Buddha had sat under the tree and acquired enlightenment.

It is no necessary that you choose a tour that is restricted merely to India. You are free to go for tours that extend to the world of Buddhism abroad. One such option that you can select is the India Nepal Buddhist Tour. Such a tour not only covers the locations of interest in the Indian sub continent but also beyond into Nepal. Moreover, such a tour only adds to your quest for more knowledge and get closer to Nirvana as you travel. Both countries have attractive spots to offer to their respective Buddhist tourists. But when it comes to a package that gives you the tour that combines the spots of both countries the you are bound to have a twofold enlightening experience.

Buddhist tourism is usually taken by the aged folk of the country. But with changing times and the current affinity of many towards this religion, there have been tourists world over who have shown a keen interest in such a tour. People who also just love to travel and enrich their lives with certain religious and spiritual journeys can also go for such a tour.
