The best season for couples to Visit Bangkok by Deepak Nangla

Article published on January 23rd 2012 | Travel Tips

Every season is a good season for a Bangkok holiday. This city is ideal for a vacation all throughout the year. Every season has its own charm when it comes to Bangkok. The beauty of the city remains intact whether it is winter season, summer time or monsoon. Couples wanting to visit Bangkok can choose the right time for their visit as per their own choice. If you want to save some money it is better to choose that time of the year when it is less crowded and the rates of accommodation are cheap. In addition, you must also see that you grab the cheap flights to Bangkok or bargain flights to Bangkok, so as to make your holidays less expensive.

Despite the fact that Bangkok can be visited any time of the year, majority of tourist visit the city between the months of November to March. Therefore, these months are the peak season for Bangkok travel. For couples who want to enjoy Bangkok holiday or who want to visit Bangkok for honeymoon, can choose the best period or the season for their visit as per their comfort. If you donâ€™t enjoy the hot scorching days, you must avoid visiting Bangkok during the months of March, April and May. During this period the temperature rises to over 40 degree Celsius. However, this is the time when Thailand celebrates the popular festival of Songkran or Thai New Year. May to November is the monsoon season when the city experiences downpours. Nevertheless, during June, the weather remains soothing and the downpours are also not regular. So, this is again can be considered as a good time for your vacation, especially if you enjoy monsoon. Many honeymooners prefer this time for a relaxed and soothing honeymoon. From late November the main tourist period starts when the climate remain pleasing. During winter, especially during Charismas and New Year, Bangkok receives the maximum tourists including couples on their honeymoon. However, this is quite expensive time in Bangkok. So, if you want to consider a budget trip, you must choose the best time when there are many attractive packages being offered by hotels and travel agencies.

The easy accessibility of Bangkok is adding to the attractions of it being a honeymoon destination. The easily available bargain flights to Bangkok are increasing the scope of people coming to this city on every day basis. These cheap flights to Bangkok are best bargains for reaching the city at a very low price. Depending on the time of the year that you choose for your Thailand vacation, you can also get many good deals on food and lodging. So, look for the best options available and grab a deal that enables you to enjoy a Bangkok trip at the maximum lowest prices.
