Imagine your wedding guests coming up to you with remarks like â€œGreat venue!â€• Things like that puts a wide smile in your face, knowing how much time and effort you spent searching for the perfect location. If you want that to happen, then searching for your most suitable wedding venue in Ventura, California is of utmost importance.

There are many interesting spots in this upbeat metropolis. Downtownâ€™s Majestic Ventura Theater has held concerts of popular music performers like Van Halen, Red Hot Chili Peppers, and Ray Charles. The Ventura Film Festival shows over 200 films annually, some of which like Little Miss Sunshine, Erin Brockovich and The Rock were also partially filmed there. With so many Ventura wedding venues to choose from, deciding on one may prove a bit daunting. When you narrow down your list of prospect venues, below are some questions you can ask:

Up to how many guests can you take in?

If you and your fiancÃ© know how many guests are expected to come, ask the maximum number of people the venue can comfortably accommodate. Put on emphasis on comfort; local laws such as a fire code might dictate how much a venue can contain. Some might say 200 but allow an extra 20 while still being legal, so be aware what their threshold is.

Can we bring our own stuff?

Ask if the venue allows bringing certain items like your own sound equipment, liquor, or even your own caterer. Some are lenient with that while others arenâ€™t, preferring you use in-house services. This is fine if you find this setup more affordable; otherwise, just keep looking around until you find one thatâ€™s accommodating.

How do your facilities work?

Inquire if your shortlisted Ventura wedding venues have facilities that take into account some of guestsâ€™ needs. Find out if they offer free parking; if theyâ€™re disabled-friendly; or if they have rooms f out-of-town guests to check-in. Also, ask how long they usually allow wedding ceremonies and receptions to run.

What is your fee schedule?

Some wedding venues in Ventura require an initial deposit and outline their fees. If youâ€™re holding the reception in, say, a hotel, be sure to ask what additional things theyâ€™ll specifically charge for such as corkage or smoking areas. Last thing youâ€™d want is a venue charging you for something you arenâ€ aware of.

While there are other questions to ask, these common four should narrow things down for you. You can read more about wedding venues in Ventura CA at eHow.com and About.com.
