Pisceans are those born between 20th February and 20th March and they are symbolized by a fish. They are the people who are generally not interested in materialistic things in life and are not the ones to be seen running after money. They are by nature a gentle and patient lot; they have quite a few generous qualities and are compassionate towards others. They get along with everyone because of their soft and easy going nature and they prove to be of little or no threat to stronger characters. They accept the place or situation that they are in rather than trying to change it to suit them. They donâ€™t try to solve problems; rather they wait till the problems get solved by themselves. They put others problems in front of their own. Pisces tend to trust their gut feeling, if they donâ€™t then they quickly realize that their hunches are usually right.

They love to be recognized as being creative. A lot of time, they think and act emotionally rather than being rational and logical about it. They act on their instinct a lot of times rather than being intellectual. Pisces are people who tend to mold with their surroundings, they absorb the experiences that they get and their surroundings in to themselves. They like their world to be right, if even a small thing goes wrong they tend to feel deeply and worry about it. Their moods are extreme; if they are happy about something they are extremely happy about it. But when they have issues and when they are sad, they tend to be extremely sad which tends to become a depression if the scenario is long term.

A Pisces baby loves fairy tales. They enjoy being in their own world where it is filled with fairies and genies. When they want something, they donâ€™t fuss or throw a temper tantrum; rather they get things done according to their wish by charming others. As he grows up, his childish and wishful nature never fades off. There will be great difficulty in making the child follow rules, schedules and regulations as he tends to do what he like at the moment. For example, a Pisces baby will not eat just because it is time for lunching. He will eat whenever he feels hungry and it is hard to bring him in to a routine. He finds it difficult to stick to a particular pattern, and in school teachers might find it difficult to mould him. At times, he may not be very confident about his abilities and has to be reassured time and again.

In a profession, they work best by themselves or as subordinates. They give their best when they are given a small department to manage, and they are not comfortable in managing a larger group as they tend to worry about erring in crisis. They make excellent secretaries and book keepers. With them living at times in their own world, they make excellent astronauts and book keepers or librarians. One can find many Pisceans as architect and lawyers as they apply their imagination and are compassionate about others. They also make great organizers and they tend to pay attention to every detail. They also excel in art and music because of their interest in these fields.

In a relationship, a Piscean is rarely egoistical. They tend to give a lot rather than take. A Piscean will be loyal to his partner and remain faithful. Scorpio and Gemini make excellent partners for Pisces. Pisces and Gemini make excellent partners as both are adaptable and flexible and are open to adjustments. Scorpio and Pisces feel emotions deeply. Because of this, both tend to understand each other and thus find it easy to compromise. Nowadays, a lot of programs are on channels which at times come on offers like the Time Warner Cable Specials.
