Over the past few years a number of pieces of legislation and law have been passed which mean it is essential for certain types of property to have disabled access. This means that if you own a retail store, an office building, art gallery or other kind of building it may be essential for you to install options which allow disabled customers or visitors to access all of the floors and rooms in your space.

A great solution for all kinds of buildings is a platform lift, which differs from traditional kinds of lifts and is a fantastic option for all styles of properties. Having a platform lift installed in a property can help to ensure that all of the requirements of the Disability Discrimination Act are met, as well as all the relevant clauses of building regulations.

If you are interested in fitting a platform lift in your business property then visit us here at Level Lifts and find the right platform lift for your premises. We have been providing platform lift solutions for more than 20 years, since platform lift options first became available, and this time and experience in the sector means we are the number one choice for anyone looking for platform lift options.
