Managers and other company owners will know that it is sometimes difficult to keep track of the comings and goings of staff, but this can mean that staff employees who are consistently arriving late or leaving early go without punishment.

However, having time clock systems in place can help company bosses to make sure that staff are working their full hours, and can help to reduce the amount of people arriving into the workplace late or heading home before their shift is officially finished.

Here at AfriClock we specialise in robust and accurate time clock systems, and our range of time clock systems is both comprehensive and affordably priced, ensuring that anyone looking to keep track of the arrival and exit times of their staff can get time clock systems without breaking the bank.

Our range of time clock systems includes fixed time clock systems which are especially designed to be able to cope with any attempted vandalism or damage, as well as completely portable time clock systems which are ideal for use out and about and away from the main work premises.

Those with a large workforce will be impressed with our time clock systems that can store up to 7,500 individual button pushes and will find that using these Clock In System means they rarely need to clear out a system and start again.

Those using our time clock systems will find our time clock systems easy to use, ensuring that staff can quickly and efficiently clock in and out and give a company the information they need on record.

Many customers coming to us for time clock systems also choose to buy one of our other items, including alarms which alert staff to break times, meal times or clocking off time.

If you are looking for reliable and robust time clock systems, then visit us here at AfriClock and talk to our team about your time clock systems needs and budget. We are sure to have the right time clock systems for your factory or workplace, so talk to our experienced time clock systems team as soon as possible.
