Article Side

Bay Area Car Dealer- Tips to Find and After Sales Service You Can Expect by Rossey Corell

Article published on December 16th 2011 | Business

Whether you are planning to buy a new and used car in Bay area, It is important you take good help of the car dealer. Bay area car dealer are the one whom you can rely upon, especially when the matter relates to buying pre-owned vehicles. However, what is more important than selecting which type of car you should buy, it is important you find a trustworthy car dealer. Mind you, a dealer is someone who can guide you in the right way finding our right car or even can dupe you, usurping your money. Thatâ€™s why prior to making a heavy investment on used or new cars Oakland, it is important to ensure that the Bay area car dealer you are dealing with is trustworthy. Letâ€™s find out some tips that can help finding new or used cars in Bay Area.

â€¢ Find a good car dealer through Internet: The internet comes with straightforward reviews about automobile dealers. Go through several reviews posted there and get a clear idea about the market repute and nature of the dealer. To be on the safer side, doing little bit research about auto dealer will always help you.

â€¢ Never forget to ask your dealer about the questions like what is the reason for selling such particular car, enquire about the mileage, warranty, maintenance records, history of the cars, highlighted features of the vehicle and more. Also make sure that you inspect the car thoroughly and conduct a test drive by yourself.

â€¢ Take good reference; ask from the owners around you. Interact with large number of family members and friends who might know a good car dealer. Since, these days with the mushrooming of several dealers there is always a chance of getting misguided or victim of trickery. So, to save yourself from getting into a trap, its is important to take prior reference before purchasing. There are some people who are eager to share their own individual experiences and some can give you advices. So, itâ€™s always good to receive suggestion rather than doing it all by yourself.

A quick Glance At After Sales Service Provided by Bay Area Car Dealer

The moment you find a dependable dealer, it is important to make sure that you receive good after sales service. Make sure that the services provided by them are appropriate enough.

Maintenance serviceâ€“ Make sure that you find a good authorized dealer, which provides free and prompt maintenance service. If so then also find out the time period needed for the maintenance service.

Special offers or discounts- Bay area car dealer comes up with multiple service discounts and offers. The service rates rely upon the location, negotiations and other factors. Hence, it is good to check the service rates charged by several auto dealers.

Warranty scheme- There are some car dealers who come up with free extensive car warranties at the time of purchasing used cars or service. Consequently, it is always good to check whether a dealer offers warranty or not.

So, read on the above mentioned tips, make a thorough research and be one the safer side prior selecting Bay area Car Dealer.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/bay-area-car-dealer-tips-to-find-and-after-sales-service-you-can-expect.htm - Article Side

Rossey Corell - About Author:
Rossey Corell has been associated to a Bay Area Car dealer for long years. He believes that whenever a person wishes to buy used cars Bay area or a new cars Oakland, it is important to go through a thorough research work.

Article Keywords:
Bay Area car dealer, New cars Oakland

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!