Best Shared Hosting, Virtual Hosting & Web Site Hosting Company by Alan Smith

Article published on February 15th 2012 | Business

Finding a good shared hosting services provider can become a very interesting exercise for an IT Manager. There are many advantages of web site hosting through a shared server. We will look at a few here. An obvious benefit is the tremendous cost savings through a virtual hosting services provider. By not investing in your own infrastructure in terms of server facilities and data connections, your organisation can save a lot of money.

Besides, the associated maintenance costs, licence renewal fees etc are minimized as they are shared across the serverâ€™s infrastructure over several users. Shared hosting has other benefits as well. Requirements such as a need for constant back up power, need for qualified staff are all minimized or avoided as the web site hosting company will have sufficient infrastructure to manage all this.

Finding A Good Virtual Hosting Company

A good shared hosting company will obviously need to have a great track record, starting from the basics. Quick loading times of Websites, minimal down times are all very important from a user perspective. A dollar saved on virtual hosting should not mean ten dollars lost on sales. Check for reference sites from your service provider to see if they offer what is promised.

Other Considerations in Finding the Best Shared Hosting & Web Site Hosting Company

A good virtual hosting company will provide set up free of cost. Reputed companies such as Prestige Technologies normally provide this and much more. Depending on the monthly fee, you get varied plans starting from 10 GB storage space to unlimited storage space. Email accounts start from 100 and go up till 1000, ideal for small and medium sized enterprises. Check whether the virtual hosting company offers 24*7 monitoring.

A true test of the quality of services is to see what the guaranteed up time is. For example, Prestige Technologies promises an up time of 99.99%. Check on the plans offered. A good web site hosting company will offer plans based on your budget and requirements. If your requirements are large enough, the shared hosting company may even customize the plans on offer.

When you select a virtual hosting company, make sure that the company is able to serve your present and future needs while being able to advise you on the best technology available and has sufficient man power.
