We are all fond of the bollywood celebrities and the spicy bollywood gupshup for which we are glued to the idiot box 24x7! Everyone is keen and enthusiastic about knowing what is going on their favorite star's life. The luxurious and lavish lifestyle of the bollywood celebrities attracts common man to a great extent and that is the main reason why most of the people subscribe to bollywood news.

However, on a serious note, people need to realize that all this is entertainment and that people should not let it affect them so much. There are Bollywood news updates that are made available to you on TV channels and online as well. A lot of online news websites feature the latest entertainment news at a very fast rate. However, one needs to realize that a certain amount of entertainment news is a must but an overdose of anything and everything is harmful. It is good to keep yourself posted with the latest entertainment news, but you should make sure that your life doesn't revolve around it.

Entertainment news usually includes movie reviews, bollywood gupshup, a sneak peek into the life of the celebrities, health beauty and wellness tips, the latest trends in the world of fashion, etc. People get too attracted to the glamour industry sometimes and start dreaming of having a life of their own which is similar to that of these bollywood movie stars. This is how people are misguided.

Media has come up, along these years, as a super power and thus, it should not misuse its power. Rather than discussing Aishwarya's outfit at the promotion of a movie or how Shahrukh got his six pack-abs, the media should focus on other important national issues. The media should throw light on the current existing social evils such as unemployment, child sexual abuse, illiteracy, etc. there are so many cases of rape, dowry, human trafficking, etc. that come in the newspapers, but people turn a deaf ear towards it and no action is taken against it. However, even a 9 year old kid will know what movies have recently released and which one is worth watching.

There are so many areas in which India still needs to work on. It is high time now that people act against these social problems that still exist in our society so as to make India a better place to live in.
