The chemical derived from Clostridium botulinum bacteria is known as BOTOX. If this chemical is shot to the muscles in small shots, it will keep the muscles from moving or contracting. BOTOX relaxes the muscles and makes the skin look smoother with lesser wrinkles.

A BOTOX treatment is best for a number of months. It is very effective to eliminate wrinkles surrounding the eyes, forehead, and neck where muscles are seldom used. Nonetheless, BOTOX does not work when applied to the muscles surrounding the mouth because these are utilized more regularly. BOTOX will also be inadequate for wrinkles that are caused by sunlight damage.

If you are living in Los Angeles and intend to have BOTOX treatments, take time to search for a skilled doctor. Choose a certified Los Angeles physician who is very proficient in BOTOX therapies, has excellent credentials, is connected to a local hospital, and has contemporary clinic facilities and equipment. This physician will take into account your health background and explain the whole therapy as well as your expectations from it.

A BOTOX treatment takes around 10 to 15 minutes. You may feel a sting because anesthetics are not applied in the procedure. After the treatment, patients are encouraged only to stand and sit. They should not lie down or touch the injection site to prevent the BOTOX chemical from moving to muscles not included in the therapy.

BOTOX therapies have no downtime. Full effect normally takes two weeks, but marked progress can be seen in 3 to 4 days. The therapy is suitable for 3 to 6 months. Once the effects of BOTOX begin to wane, you have to revisit your Los Angeles BOTOX physician for retreatment.

If you want to keep the wrinkles at bay, keep in mind that BOTOX Beverly Hills doctors administer can be costly, so you need to save up for it or include it in your spending plan. But the good news is that many BOTOX therapy specialists accept most types of payment. You can pay in credit cards, cash, check, or through payment plans with loaning firms. Recognize which mode of payment is suitable for you and ask your physician during the preliminary consultation if this is suitable to him/her.

Like most medical operations, BOTOX treatments also have their fair share of advantages and negative aspects. Discuss this with the BOTOX Los Angeles physician who will perform the treatment. For more details concerning BOTOX, you can explore the Internet for forums that explore the subject.
