Buy Handmade Area Rugs for Exclusivity by Symond Adams

Article published on March 22nd 2012 | Business

Handmade area rugs are by far the most popular type of rugs that people want to buy. Although they are more expensive than machine made rugs, they are considered to be of great value and therefore a very good investment. There are many online merchants who offer a great variety of handmade area rugs at affordable prices. However, it is necessary to ensure that an online store selling handmade area rugs has a good reputation in the market.

Difference between Hand Made and Machine Made Rugs

Machine made area rugs are created by automated weaving machines controlled by computers. Although they are made using different colored yarns and give a neat, clean appearance, they are not considered to be long term investments.

Manually weaving hand made area rugs involves weaving using three techniques â€“ flat weaving, pile weaving and hand tufted weaving. Different techniques result in different styles such as Oriental, contemporary etc.

Manual weaving is a labor intensive and time consuming process but the results can be absolutely stunning. This is the reason why they are expensive and people consider them to be investments. Handmade area rugs are the product of talented and skilled hard working weavers who take great pains to create each knot that goes into the making of the rug.

Advantages

Handmade area rugs go beyond the common functions that rugs perform. They have many advantages to them. They add great value to any dÃ©cor scheme. They are magnificent works of art and known for their timeless beauty. They are highly functional, durable and capable of lasting for many generations. They age gracefully, in fact they look better as the years go by and that is why their value increases over the years. They are easy to maintain, yet they are considered antique pieces that can be passed on as family heirlooms.

They are of greater value than other furnishings since they are an unbeatable combination of functionality, aesthetics and value.

Donâ€™t Get Duped

It is very difficult for ordinary laypersons to judge a good quality hand made area rug from a cheap one and it is very easy for store owners to pass off cheap rugs as original hand made area rugs. Donâ€™t fall for those stores that offer handmade area rugs at extremely low prices, they are most probably not original or may have been rejected as being of inferior quality.

The best way to protect your interests is by doing a little research on the subject and learning about Handmade area rugs so that you can differentiate a good quality hand made rug from an inferior quality one.

No two handmade area rugs are exactly the same, there are sure to be small differences between them. They are unique works of art and worth every dollar they spend while buying them.
