Article Side

CouponPress Coupon Script for WordPress by John Zadel

Article published on March 5th 2012 | Business

Have you ever considered starting your own voucher code internet site? Well, there are plenty of reasons to do so. The amount of cash there is to be made from running your own one may very well be very large indeed. Nonetheless, one main problem for many people wanting to create their very own sites is seated in their incapacity to design sites. A lot of individuals have no idea how to do this. This very fact alone can put many individuals off the idea. But this need no longer be the case. Enter CouponPress. CouponPress is a fully fledged, out of the box, coupon website solution for WordPress. In simple terms, it'll transform any normal WordPress blog into a completely functional coupon site in no time at all. No need to program or code anything - any that tricky stuff is taken care of for you. To a large extent, any you're required to do is install the theme, select your desired template (you'll have over 20 to select from), add/import coupon codes to your site, and then wallah, you will be ready to go. And it truly is as simple as which.

The plugin itself comes compete with support for a variety of different voucher variations including printable coupons and voucher codes. It also comprises support for deals and promotional offers the same, making it very versatile and extremely effective. It features built-in CSV importation tools, and support for icodes and ForMeToCoupon networks. It also supports website users to upload coupons, a ranking system to rate coupons, and a URL cloaking option that masks affiliate links. What's more, the license is unlimited which means that installations are limitless, and that, therefore, means you may setup an unlimited number of web sites. There are a helpful assortment of image editing tools that will enable you to to keep the images on your site looking professional. By default, there are a assortment of advertising slots that are selectable through the WordPress back-end of your website, so linking your Adsense account with your website is really a breeze. Services such as Adsense will allow you to promote adverts on your site. The more users click those adverts, the more cash you'll earn.

One of the great points about CouponPress is its ease of use. The rear-end is easy to navigate, and getting a site up and operating in minimal time is a given. Astoundingly, this theme has to be certainly one of the best when it comes to value. I mean, in value for money terms, I have yet to stumble upon a more attractive one. Most Premium WordPress templates restrict customers to one installation per transaction whereas PremiumPress (the designers of CouponPress) offer unlimited installations on any of their themes. And what is all the more surprising, as I'm sure you will no doubt learn, is that the price is less expensive than most too. One more brilliant thing, if not certainly one of the most important things, would be the Search Engine Optimization friendly character of CouponPress. Search Engine Optimization friendliness inevitably means that your website will be less difficult to search out in major search engines like Google, and Yahoo and other major search engines alike. This is very critical, in that, an Search Engine Optimization friendly internet site will rank higher within the search engines. And if it ranks higher inside the search engines, chances are the more traffic you'll get. And as we all know more traffic means more chances to earn money.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/couponpress-coupon-script-for-wordpress.htm - Article Side

John Zadel - About Author:
If you'd like to know more about the plugin in question visit the PremiumPress website. We are now gifting away a limited a CouponPress coupon which will save customers about 59% on any one transaction of the template.

Article Keywords:
coupon coupon theme, couponpress coupon, couponpress discount, couponpress coupon code, wordpress coupon plugin, wordpress coupon theme

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!