Convertibles donâ€™t need to be costly, and car enthusiasts in St. Catharines have the advantage of finding a great bargain from the used car dealers located in their area.

Convertibles was first introduced in the 1920s. Its distinctive feature is a retracting hardtop system created by Ben P. Ellerbeck for the vehicle manufacturer, Hudson. Shortly after, some other brands took the convertible feature. In 1941, Chrysler developed its first convertible called the Thunderbolt. In 1953, The Ford Motor Company designed Continental Mark II and invested nearly $2 million on a servo-operated retractable roof.

A convertibleâ€™s roof can be pulled back and folded away to alter a car from an enclosed vehicle into an open â€œrooflessâ€• type. The roof is made of a soft or firm material. Soft-tops are made out of canvas or vinyl while hard-tops are made from aluminum or steel. A soft-top convertible is also known as a spyder, cabriolet, or cabrio; a two-seater is a roadster, and a hard-top convertible is marketed as a coupe convertible or coupe cabriole. A two-seater convertible is a coupe roadster.
