Great value home phone lines by Paul Rowley

Article published on March 13th 2012 | Business

Choosing the perfect home phone line provider can be hard, as there are so many great phone providers currently available. Each offers different prices, packages and bundles, which makes every option more suited to different customers. Here we look at some of the best home phone options currently on the market so you can get to know more about the best option for you and your home.

BT offer a range of great packages for home phone calls, they have packages to suit different budgets and lifestyles. You can also tailor your package to make the perfect option for you. BT Home is used by millions of customers across the UK with plans such as Unlimited weekend calls, Unlimited weekend & evening, and Unlimited Anytime calling plans. With this great flexibility you can choose exactly whatâ€™s best for you. It is very easy to switch to a BT home phone plan, and the helpful people at BT will talk you through all of your options and price plans.

Sky is another great option for those looking for a home phone line, Sky Talk is great for those looking for a reliable and great value phone service. So now you can add Sky Talk to your TV and Internet options â€“ so you can consolidate all of your bills into one! Skyâ€™s phone service is low cost an great value for money; they have a range of great plans and options so you can choose what best suits you. Check out Sky Talk Freetime for free evening and weekend calls, or Sky Talk Unlimited which offers customers even more free calling options. Existing Sky customers can also get Sky Talk Freetime at no extra cost, which is a great offer to their existing satellite TV and broadband customers. You can also keep your BT number and access great customer services.

Virgin also offers fantastic options for those looking for a new home phone provider, offering them a great value and comprehensive service that offers many great call features. You can get great low price calling tariffs including international calls so you can pick a price plan that is suitable for your home and your budget. All of their packages come with some sort of free calling bundle, such as evening, weekends or anytime. So check out Talk Weekends, Evening and Weekends, Unlimited and talk international to find the option that is best for you.

Talk Talk also offer great home phone line services, with packages to suit everyone. Customers benefit from their constantly low prices and great value deals. They are renowned for their great customer service consultants who make sure you are always satisfied with their service.

To find out more about switching phone lines, consult a price comparison website to find out all of the best options for you and speak to customer service advisors to find out what each can offer you.

For more information visit : http://www.homephonesignup.co.uk

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/great-value-home-phone-lines.htm - Article Side

Paul Rowley - About Author:
Various service provider in the market offer several packages with Sky and BT which are the market leaders. a Home phone sign up offers a variety of broadband and home phone plans. Visit http://www.homephonesignup.co.uk and check the offers from other service providers as well.

Article Keywords:
BT Home, Sky Talk, Home phone sign up

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!