Renovations are problematic and chaotic all the same. Whether it is a business or a home renovation, everybody be it the business owner or the home owner get affected. Businesses need to get started up as soon as possible because in their case more down-time leads to damaging loses which can also lead to a reduction in customer loyalty. They need to be open all the time to keep customers engaged and interested. When it comes to home owners a renovation is a nightmare. Those who choose to stay in the house, have to also decide on space since most of the furniture gets moved around from one room to another.

Renovations are all the more problematic, in both home and office situations because goods get damaged. The dust coming from the work that goes on during such renovations not only plays with the health of individuals that surround them, but also jams up, and damages furniture and equipment.

Such damage can be easily prevented with a simple personal storage unit from The Box. They are a moving and storage company in Dubai that specializes in personal and commercial storage facilities. What a personal storage unit allows one to do is to simply store all their furniture, appliances and other delicate possessions in their own special unit. With climate-controlled facilities, The Box ensures that the items that are received by the facility are returned back in the same condition. What homeowners and business owners can do during a renovation is to simply store all of their furniture, computers and even paintings and ensure that they remain untouched and fungus-free till the job is done.

The Box offers personal storage solutions in different sizes ensuring proper usage of space at their facilities. Customer also have the power to choose between different sizes and pay only for the space they need. The Boxâ€™s storage facilities also offer the latest in security equipment with 24-hours CCTV surveillance and magnetic card access with a customer log that is maintained at all times. The most advanced fire extinguishing systems are in place to ensure that all the goods remain safe in the event of an accident.

Apart from storage, The Box also provides professional home and office relocation services for both individual and commercial needs. This allows them to deliver moving services in the form of logistics that will help you send and retrieve your goods to and from their facilities. Their packers and movers teams will handle any task given to them in a professional and courteous manner.
