

Article Side

Problems with General Steel Corporation, the General Steel Buildings and CEO Jeff Knight by Nathan Wright

Article published on December 22nd 2011 | Business

There are many businesses that are having problems today. However, some have created the problems for themselves. One such company is General Steel Corporation and the General Steel buildings. Owner and CEO Jeff Knight has made millions of dollars through this business, but his clients are unsatisfied. In addition, he is being investigated by a variety of different bureaus for illegal acts that have been committed.

General Steel Corporation and the General Steel buildings is the subject for many different law suits today. Some claim illegal acts performed by General Steel Corporation such as not returning deposits when projects were not completed or cancelled. Jeff Knight as the CEO and the General Steel buildings are the number one subjects in the investigations and law suits today.

Customers of General Steel Corporation have complained about a variety of different things involving the General Steel buildings. In addition, the employees working for the company are also finding that they are being told untruths about the products and the service of General Steel Corporation including the General Steel buildings today. When a business is under investigation or the owner is being sued by a variety of people, financial problems are not far behind.

Jeff Knight is the owner and CEO of General Steel Corporation. A quick visit to General Steel Scam will provide you with many different actions that have been taken and are planning to be taken against him and the General Steel buildings today. In addition, many different things are happening that could result in the dismantling of General Steel Corporation as a whole.

Many safety issues have been found with many of the General Steel buildings as well as problems with meeting deadlines and price gouging. In the economy of today, doing the best work at the lowest price is your only option for survival. While you might find that you need to lower your prices to a level that offers very little profit, you will be able to stay in business and have satisfied customers.

The information offered on this site can be searched and you will be able to read quite a few complaints from customers regarding Jeff Knight. In addition current employees as well as ex employees are found to be making comments that lead the general public to realize the various scams that are taking place today. Jeff Knight however continues to plead to the public for more business while others have discovered that the statements made are very much false today.

When the president of an organization is named in a variety of court cases as Jeff Knight is, there is likely to be many problems in the future of the company. Customers are quickly discovering that Jeff Knight is not the person that his speeches and letters from the president claim him to be.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/problems-with-general-steel-corporation-the-general-steel-buildings-and-ceo-jeff-knight.htm> - Article Side

Nathan Wright - About Author:

About Us: a General Steel Corporation is working to help the general public understand the things that are being done by this large corporation today. In addition to a variety of illegal acts that have been committed, people are finding that the products are not the high quality that they are seeking. For this reason, the website of a <http://www.generalsteelscam.com> has been created to allow people to speak out as well as get more information on things that are happening today.

Article Keywords:

the general steel buildings, general steel corporation, jeff knight

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!