Pub Licence â€“ Obtaining One for Commercial Purposes

by Julia Roger

Article published on July 5th 2012 | Business

A pub is a commercial establishment where liquor is served in all its varieties. This is a place where the supply and serving are both carried out which brings it under the purview of legal regulations. To run an establishment of this kind the owner has to secure a Pub Licence; this is also commonly referred to as the Personal Licence that entails fulfillment of a few conditions by the owner in order to secure the official permit to operate. There is a period of 10 years allotted to each licence when acquired at the end of which it will have to be revalidated or renewed. Otherwise, the permit will be considered as nonfunctional.

The first step towards acquiring the biiab with success is attendance to a training course that is available; this is known as the APLH or the Award for Personal Licence Holders. During the course of this program, there are several important issues on alcohol and the legal statutes concerning its serving and supply that are discussed. At the end of it there is an examination covering 40 questions approximately that an applicant has to complete successfully; following this you will receive a certificate and eligible for the licence as well. The next step is to fill up a couple of forms for acquiring the Pub Licence. These are as follows.

Application form for Personal Licence

Disclosure of Convictions and Declarations Form

Log on to the official website of the department where the forms are available for free downloads. Along with them, there will also be a checklist of testimonials and documents that you have to submit along with the filled up forms. Following this, you will have to apply for a CRB or Criminal Records Bureau check. Following this you are now ready to submit your documents and the application forms for the application of the Licence; once you receive your Personal Licence you are ready to go into business.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/pub-licence-obtaining-one-for-commercial-purposes.htm - Article Side

Julia Roger - About Author:
For more information on a Pub Licence, check out the info available online; these will help you learn to find the a biiab!

Article Keywords:
Pub Licence, biiab

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!