Rugs have been and still are a rage amongst homemakers. Since ancient times rugs have been a favourite with both the elite as well as commoners. Actually, placing an appropriate rug in your living room or bedroom adds both warmth and class to it. Of course you cannot put heavy rugs if you live in a tropical country like India. However, you can put a light one and nowadays different varieties of rugs are available and you can surely find one to suit the environment of your surroundings. Talking about varieties, one rug that is quite popular is the metallic rug. It is different from the others and looks very stunning.

Metallic rugs are made of metallic foil fabric. These rugs have a base colour. Because of this, rugs reflect different shades when sunlight falls on them. Although it is easy to clean a metallic rug yet it is advisable to get it machine cleaned. Care must be taken while cleaning because that way you can enhance the durability of this rug.

metallic rugs are made in countries like India, Belgium etc. and both the varieties are different and unique. These are usually fully lined with cotton drills. There is also shoulder and leg straps made of satin. You can choose shades like brown, beige and ivory etc. These natural shades compliment the dÃ©cor of modern homes.

These rugs can be great if you want to add shine to your room. The styles are innovative and the designs are simply irresistible. Moreover these rugs go well with both metal and leather furniture. Apart from the living room you can also place this rug in your bathroom. So if you want to get that ultra modern look then go for this rug. It is worth the price.
