Need to know what Roof Rack System is. These are basically bars that are designed to transport heavy luggage on vehicle's roof. If we talk about the items that can be placed on roof racks, they are bikes, canoes, skis, traveler's bag and many more.

Roof Racks come in different shapes, sizes and models for Car or SUVs and have number of advantages. Some can span the width of your vehicle's roof and may contain attachments to secure your skis or snow boards, bicycles, and boats. There are many roof racks available with storage containers for different items.

Since trunk does not provide enough space for storage. Therefore, Roof Racks are used which provide open up space that you need in your car or any other vehicle. Roof Racks are totally different from the racks that are used on the back side of vehicle because they are designed to provide secure and safe way to carry your items without any problem.

Bikes may sit in its rails and are secured with brackets or straps. So, there is no need to worry about your bike damage. Roof racks also have cushions to secure snow board or skis on them. Even a carrier storage container can also be attached safely with the help of brackets available on roof rack.

Price of roof rack system depends on the type and size. There are many types of roof racks in the market. A typical roof rack system has mainly two important parts – Rails and Towers. Rails are useful to secure luggage and are seen at the vehicle's side whereas Towers are used to avoid damage from items and clamps connects the towers to rails.

Roof racks can be used on temporary or permanent basis. If you are a frequent outdoor traveler and have to bring huge amount of luggage, then Permanent Roof rack is better option for you. And on the other hand who need extra space some times, Temporary systems are best.

Double storage, Additional space, Convenience and safety are the few benefits of roof racks because when need to store more items, roof rack doubles the storage capacity of vehicle and enough space makes the journey more convenient for travelers to carry their luggage. Now, it is very clear that roof rack is not just an ordinary vehicle accessory. It is indispensable add-ons of vehicle.

Suitability, capacity and installation-ease are three main important factors that you need to consider before purchasing roof rack for your vehicle. If you are unfamiliar with these things then you must consult a professional.

Like other parts of vehicle, roof racks need proper maintenance because they are also exposed to components that are harmful and may cause damage. You should remove it when not in use, clean the rack well and always ensure that the load is evenly distributed.
