Scrap Metal Prices in Michigan – Making Waste Metal Count by James Blee

Article published on March 22nd 2012 | Business

There are quite a few scrap metal buyers and processing companies in Detroit and Michigan who can collect your scrap and recycle them thus benefiting everyone in the process. By keeping a close look on the market prices of various ferrous and non-ferrous metals, these companies offer the best possible rates to sellers making sure a lot of scrap can be recycled instead of ending up in landfills that only harm the planet. Although the prices vary from one buyer to another, scrap metal prices in michigan hover around $300, with alloy free metal and 2â€™™ plate and structural metal costing more than short steel and mixed cast.

You can also get good price for 4 X 2 steel. The scrap metal accepted by these companies is in many different forms including regular or jumbo beads, entire vehicles, automatic and manual transmissions, sheet iron, sealed units and even batteries. Similarly, the scrap metal prices in michigan could be based on net ton and gross ton. Gross ton, which is around 2240lb prices are slightly higher than net ton which is around 2000lb. The prices also differ for ferrous and non-ferrous metals. The companies purchase tin cans, cable, steel bands and fencing equipment at 50% of around $180 for every net ton.

The cost of copper varies based on the material once again. Wiring harnesses and communication cables fetch less than house wire and extension cords. There are different variations of brass too such as red, irony and yellow brass purchased for different rates. The cost of aluminum varies based on whether it is extruded or cast, has a painted siding, is irony or whether it has any sort of plating at all..
