Article Side
Star signs embody your personality and compatibility by Astrinkjames

Article published on February 18th 2012 | Business

Astrological or star signs depict 12 sections of the zodiac. If the astrology is to be believed, there is definite organization of celestial bodies which takes different shapes and form and govern human activities. There are twelve star signs which embody different characteristics and personalities. Depending on your birth date, there are moon signs and sun signs. Astrologers all around the world have endeavored to measured and divide the sky but zodiac names are still unswerving.

According to western astrology, there are equinox and solstice points while in Indian or Vedic astrology the 12 signs are group of stars or constellations. Chinese as well as western astrology do not believe in constellations. They believe that equator of our earth has been divided into 12 equal segments which are star signs. In Western as well as Asian astrology, the emphasis is laid on the movement of Sun, moon and celestial bodies through each of the star signs whereas Chinese astrology lays emphasis on time.

Primarily, our Earth seems to move in a circular orbit called ecliptic and zodiac is a fine band around the ecliptic which is composed of constellations and star signs. There are 12 different star signs into which zodiac has been divided. The star sign Aries starts on the vernal equinox. Each star sign represent something. For instance, Sagittarius represents archer, Pisces represents fishes, virago represents a girl, Gemini represents a couple etc. Way back in the ancient times people used to monitor the path in which sun moves as this is helpful was helpful in predicting any change in the pattern of the seasons. Later on, people started associated sun signs with date of birth which affects characteristics and future.

Chinese astrology believes that sun, moon and stars and impact on the personality of any individual which in turn affects their conduct and course of action. As per Chinese astrology, wood is ruled by Jupiter, Earth is ruled by Saturn, water is ruled by Mercury, fire is ruled by Mars and metal is ruled by Venus. Rat, Ox, Tiger, Rabbit, Snake, Horse, Sheep, Monkey, Rooster, Dog and Boar are Chinese birth signs. They believe that the animal that rules the birth of an individual also rules his heart and in turn his conduct and characteristics. Birth sign locator is used to locate which Chinese animal rules your date of birth.

Star signs are used to find the characteristics of any individuals and also the compatibility with partners. There are twelve star signs which describe the characteristics of the person. The persons having Aries as star sign are impulsive and challenging. Those who have Taurus as sun sign are conservative and concrete. Gemini star sign indicates the quality of playfulness and good communication. People having Cancer as a star sign are caring and over sensitive. Virgo indicates carefulness and Libra indicates negotiation skills. Scorpios are passionate whereas Sagittarians are independent. Capricorns are ambitious and Aquarians are genuine. Star sign Pisces indicate the quality of submissive.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/star-signs-embody-your-personality-and-compatibility.htm - Article Side

Astrinkjames - About Author:

Learn more about a star signs. Stop by Russell Bland's site where you can find out all about a star sign and how helpful they can be for you.

Article Keywords:
star signs, star sign

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!