

Article Side

Starting a Memorable All-Girls Spa Party at Home by Sofia Benbow

Article published on July 11th 2012 | Business

Overnight parties in this day and age may not hold the same appeal they had for previous generations. Devoting the entire night going about boys and braiding your hair is so cliché, and activities like these got shoved out the window way back in the late 90s. Having said that, in-home parties are still viewed as the most economical way to socialize with the girls. But since pajama parties can easily become tiresome no-no, how can you perk up an in-home bonding night with your most intimate girl friends?

Two words: spa party. Haven't you always found it fun to be pampered at spas while you rest and de-stress? Well now, you enjoy it right in the warmth of your own home while chuckling and swapping stories with your buddies. You can wiggle-waggle your hearts out as you get your nails done and have your skin scrubbed until it's spotless. But exactly how do you organize such an event and guarantee its success?

The Invites

For a more conventional touch, you could produce custom-designed invitations on your computer either on ordinary paper or on fragrant stationery. There are many online tools that let you create your very own invitations. For a more unique touch, you can pick a flat spa-related item—like a bath pillow or a sander—and write the invitation on it with a gel pen.

The Setting

The setup for your in-home spa party ought to be as serene and as comfortable as you can manage. The very fact that you're in a household and not in an unknown commercial office is stress-free enough, but you can make it more so by turning down the lights and lighting several scented candles. Pairing up aromatic candles with relaxing background music is always a good plan. Be vigilant when it comes to the candles, though.

Food and Beverages

Instead of darting over to the nearest Starbuck's, you can give yourself and your friends a delightful gift by mixing smoothies, sparkling sodas, and herbal tea. A girls spa party most likely would not be complete without hors d'oeuvres, so whip up some finger food buffet-style—sliced fruits, sushi, nuts, chocolate-covered strawberries, etc. would all be ideal.

Spa Services

Surely, you're also likely to require professionals to provide the spa services for you and your guests. You may want to contact any number of companies that can help arrange a spa party for girls. These companies provide numerous bundles that involve any services you'll probably need in a spa party, in addition to provisions such as spa towels, gift bags, water bottles, and the always-present feather boas.

In case it's your birthday, the companies mentioned earlier may also help put up a spa birthday party for girls. This is similar to a regular spa party, besides the fact that you're the VIP and there are numerous prizes going your way. For more information and facts, read voices.yahoo.com/10-tips-successful-spa-party-home-3890136.html?cat=69.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/starting-a-memorable-all-girls-spa-party-at-home.htm> - Article Side

Sofia Benbow - About Author:

For more details, search a girls spa party, a spa party for girls, and a spa birthday party for girls in Google for related information.

Article Keywords:

girls spa party, spa party for girls, spa birthday party for girls

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!