Conference Worldwide delivers quality teleconferencing services to businesses searching for reliable and affordable options. This company offers an array of features that businesses around the world find extremely beneficial. Whether providing savings on long distance calls or a risk-free introductory offer including 200 free minutes, Conference Worldwide strives to accommodate business needs to connect to staff and clients in over 20 countries.

Affordability

Small business owners struggling financially and seeking to cut costs discover significant savings when choosing to use conference calls to host meetings. In fact, teleconferencing reduces 90% of costs when compared to traditional in-person meetings. Rates start at 1.7 ¢ per minute using international and U.S. toll numbers. Furthermore, rates are guaranteed 24 hours a day, seven days a week without day or nighttime restrictions.

Activation is free with no hidden installation costs, setup fees, or connection charges. Additionally, cancellation or deactivation fees are not applied if clients are not completely satisfied with Conference Worldwide services.

Excellent Call Quality

Clients are not required to purchase expensive equipment in order to receive excellent teleconference quality. The provider's secure network infrastructure supports a maximum of 50 participants on a call. Clients also have 24/7 access to fully automated and on demand teleconferencing services. Conference calls do not require reservations and do not require assistance from operators to connect calls.

Clients have complete control over the quality of calls with features such as mute, hold, record, and dial out, all of which are easily activated by simple phone commands. Other features include call recording capabilities, convenient auto-recharge of minutes, elimination of busy signals, and a virtual waiting room for participants dialing in early.

Convenience

The convenience of teleconference services provided by companies like Conference Worldwide cannot be stressed enough. Participants from around the world or just miles away have the ability to connect within seconds of dialing in. The process to connect to a conference call is quick and easy with three simple steps. Participants simply dial the access number provided before the scheduled event. Once the call is connected participants are prompted to enter a unique conference code number, which should also be delivered beforehand. After the code is successfully entered, participants are connected to the call.

While affordability, superior call quality and convenience stand out as the most desirable benefits of a teleconference, there are numerous other advantages waiting to be discovered.
