Article published on July 27th 2012 | Business

It is good to know that like other environmental friendly individual, you are also opting for fake lawn. However, there are certain things that you need to consider before laying down the same. For instance, you would need to determine the area and its size where you want to install the item. Then, you need to set the most suitable drainage system for the artificial lawn. You have to see to the fact that the natural grass layers are entirely removed before the installation of artificial one. Several other factors are there as the ones mentioned, which you need to look after before you could install the artificial lawn in your premises.

Laying a gravel base is one of the vital steps that you need to do during installation. As per expert opinions, timber stakes need to be considered. The lawn would get the required strength and durability if these timbers are screwed to the stakes. In case, if the lawn meets any concrete path like wall or decking, it would be a good decision to move the timber with a provisional fillet. If there is problem of heavy clay soils, then incorporating a maximum of 3 inches crushed kind of surface would be considered as an ideal thing to do.

To ensure a perfect drainage system, it is advisable to layer the surface with very sharp sand. Once all these steps are completed, you can go ahead to lay the fake lawn grass. It is important to install it properly to avoid any further inconvenience. Thus, it is always advisable to hire a professional. They are better than real grass lawn in various ways Such as they do not require fertilization, watering, mowing and other things that you have to do in case you have a real grass lawn. Elderly people find it easier to maintain. They are also safe for pets and kids as well.
