Article Side

Types of Storage Facilities

by Matt Haas

Article published on August 17th 2012 | Business

Is your home unable to accommodate your surplus belongings? All you have to do is just look for a secure self storage unit according to your requirements and budget. However, you need to choose a storage unit carefully because most of the storage unit may not have enhanced security features or enough space to store all your belongings. To avoid unnecessary regrets later, you need to have some basic idea regarding the different types of storage units that are available nowadays.

Having some knowledge about the little rock storage facilities will not just help you to choose a secure storage facility but will save your rental charges. Here are some popular types of storage facilities:

Self storage facility:

Self storage units are suited for both commercial and residential use. As it offers enough space to store a large number of belongings, they are used often for storing things while relocating office or residential apartments. As self storage units are affordable they are used in large numbers than other types of storage units. If you are choosing self storage unit, you might have to take care of all the packing, moving and storing process. Moreover, you might have to take care of security features too.

You can use CCTV cameras for 24 hours protection, motion detectors and burglar alarms according to your security needs. When itâ€™s up to rental charges, you can pay the rents on monthly basis. One of the flexible features of self storage facility is that you can access your belongings whenever you wish without any restrictions.

Mini storage facility:

A mini storage facility is suited for storing furniture and other decorative items that are not used regularly. It consist of a row of units that can accessed from outside through garage type door.

Climate controlled storage facility:

Climate controlled storage units are specifically designed to protect climate sensitive items such as furniture and heirlooms that are affected by molds, pests and mildew. As the items are stored in multistory buildings, you will have elevator facilities to access the belongings. Since climate in controlled according to items sensitivity, climate controlled storage facilities are quite expensive than other types of storage units.

Boat/RV/Car Storage facility:

If you need to store your old cars or boats, you can make use of car storage facilities that are specifically designed to store vehicles.

Portable storage facility:

Portable storage facilities are often used for commercial purpose to store things while moving or relocating. They have standard storage space and use tractor-trailer units for easy mobility.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/types-of-storage-facilities.htm - Article Side

Matt Haas - About Author:
When choosing self storage facility, you need to decide on how much space your belongings need to avoid unnecessary discomfort. The author has several years of experience in the a Little rock mini storage arena and has written many articles regarding little rock self storage and a Self storage in little rock Arkansas in the past.

Article Keywords:
little rock self storage, little rock mini storage, self storage in little rock arkansas

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!