Article Side

What Makes a Good attorney Wall, NJ?

by Aidan Margas

Article published on November 25th 2011 | Business

To look at most divorce attorney Wall, NJ cases and custody hearings, you would think that thereâ€™s nothing an attorney Wall, NJ can do, that the courts always side with the woman, no matter what, one hundred percent of the time, even if sheâ€™s a convicted felon looking for a DUI attorney Wall, NJ and the father has a squeaky clean record.

If weâ€™re being completely honest here about what a divorce attorney Wall, NJ contends with, the courts do have a tendency to side with the woman in many family law, divorce and custody cases handled by an attorney Wall, NJ. Statistically, men tend to suffer just as much domestic abuse from women as women suffer from men, for instance, but you rarely hear this reported as the women who perform the abuse are less likely to be convicted and the men less likely to bother reporting it in the first place.

Itâ€™s much more of a cultural bias than a legal one, though. Many times, it is simply the fact that the father gives up, assuming his case is lost before itâ€™s begun, that results in his losing custody and other rights in his case.

Anthony J Cafaro, Jr., a divorce attorney Wall, NJ has expertise in family law, custody law and divorce law, to the extent that if there is a way for a client to legally maintain their rights to custody, visitation and whatever else they may be seeking, then Cafaro, Jr. will fight for those rights to be upheld.

At the very least, any father who truly loves their children may wind up defending their right to any number of thingsâ€¦

â€¢ Custody

â€¢ Visitation

â€¢ Child support

â€¢ A fair division of assets

â€¢ Alimony

If youâ€™re reading that list and thinking â€œAlimony, for men?â€• well, there you have it: Itâ€™s a cultur We just assume that the woman is going to win the case nine times out of ten, that the man will have to pay the woman nine times out of ten, even if she makes far more money than he does.

Gender roles are a lot more complex today than they were in the 1950â€™s, and the courts are finally beginning to catch up with these changes. Sometimes, a child would be in better hands with their father. Sometimes, the man stays at home while the woman works. Sometimes, it really is an even split in terms of who is owed what.

Again, there is a tendency for the courts to side with the woman, this clichÃ© doesnâ€™t come out of nowhere, itâ€™s rooted in fact, but to think that the woman will win 100% of the time or even 90% of the time is just completely untrue.

If you are a woman seeking a divorce or custody, this is important for you, as well: Thereâ€™s no guarantee that youâ€™re going to win your case, so donâ€™t become complacent. Find an attorney like Anthony J Cafaro, Jr. who will fight tooth and nail to protect you, your family, your assets and your rights.

In any event, going into a divorce or a custody hearing without legal representation is like going into the snow in a pair of swim trunks and a tank top. You need to prepare yourself for the challenges that lie before you.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/what-makes-a-good-attorney-wall-nj.htm - Article Side

Aidan Margas - About Author:
If you are looking for more details and information on a DUI Attorney Wall, NJ and a Divorce Wall, NJ then please visit our website.

Article Keywords:
DUI Attorney Wall NJ, Divorce Wall NJ

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!