You may not need an attorney Tyler, TX right now, but itâ€™s a good idea to have the number of a good attorney on hand at all times just in case. Just in case of what? Well, that depends on what you do for a living, who you associate with and a number of other factors, but in any event, itâ€™s always a good idea to have a financial expert on your phone so that you can get whatever information, help and assistance you need at any time. Here are a few reasons you may be looking up attorney Tyler, TX in the near future.

Bankruptcy

If you run a business, if you have a lot of credit card debt, if you have been forced to take out a second mortgage, it may be a good idea to have a bankruptcy attorney Tyler, TX in mind. Not so much because bankruptcy is a given or anything like that, but because it is a possibility. Dealing with finances means understanding full well that there are risks to any financial venture. Insurmountable debt is one of those risks, and bankruptcy can be a solution.

Help with the IRS

This is very important if you run a business or otherwise move large amounts of cash. The Internal Revenue Service wants every penny of that they can get, and having a knowledgeable attorney on your side means that a greater percentage of your income stays in your pocket where it belongs. You may qualify for dozens of exemptions that you donâ€™t know about, and you may be able to qualify for several more if you have an attorney Tyler, TX look at your business and check out all of the angles.

Avoiding Harassing Phone Calls

One of the services an attorney Tyler, TX like William H. Lively, Jr. can provide is serving as something of a harassing phone call wall. Even hearing the answering machine for an attorney puts bill collectors in an uneasy frame of mind. They donâ€™t want you lawyering up any more than a police officer running an interrogation wants their suspect calling an attorney. Lawyers scare them, and knowing that you youâ€™re armed with the knowledge and assistance of an attorney can oftentimes put a permanent stop to harassing phone calls.

The idea behind keeping a lawyerâ€™s phone number at hand is basically the same as keeping an umbrella when itâ€™s cloudy out. It might not rain, but itâ€™s better to have it and not need it than need it and not have it. The same goes with a financial attorney. There are a lot of people out there who will take you for every cent if you let them. An attorneyâ€™s job is to keep your money in your own pocket, where it belongs. A skilled, knowledgeable attorney like William H. Lively, Jr. provides not only advice and legal counsel, but peace of mind. In fact, thatâ€™s something you can have for free if you just keep his business card near the phone.
