Working with What Youâ€™ve Got: Improving a Work Place to Match Your Needs

by Blake Mitchell

Article published on June 7th 2012 | Business

A number of people feel that to live comfortably, you have to work uncomfortably. That is most likely the circumstance for individuals who work in corporate grayness. If you work in front of your laptop all day and youâ€™re confined within a lack luster work place with similarly dull furniture, you could begin to feel as though you are a primary character in a black-and-white silent movie. Pretty soon your train of thought is going to be kept in a never-ending loop of endless white tables, equally spaced compartments, and rows of black office desks.

A poll carried out by a top research firm in the U.S. said that nine out of 10 office staff connect workspace layout to productiveness. The respondents said a cozy, user-friendly, and inspiring place of work could make them carry out their job better and keep them motivated. There is nothing like monotony and detachment when it comes to lowering job satisfaction. If you feel trapped or uninspired by your existing work place, here are some ideas to pimp it up and brighten the atmosphere:

Say goodbye to those drab walls.

Having something on the wall can add a bit of happiness to a room. It doesnâ€™t need to be a million-dollar artwork by Picasso or van Gogh. It can be a rather simple framed image of a flower or landscape that evokes a relaxed and soothing effect. Retouching the walls with tranquil colors such as moss green, beige, pale blue, or olive could actually help sustain your concentration and focus.

Arrange and liven up that desk.

Take a look at your work station. Is there something on it that doesnâ€™t remind you of your job? Apart from framed pictures of your loved ones or pet, you can spice up your desk in a Tysons VA office space with brightly colored pen stands and fun office items. Naturally, you need to clear up all the clutter first.

Put in a little bit of flora.

Chalkboards are green for a good reason. Green is a cool and soothing color that is easy on the eyes. You can include little potted plants to your Reston VA office space to offer your eyes a break from the monitorâ€™s light. Most office and desk plants and flowers require minimal watering or sunshine. These types of plants also cleanse the air and may even become your next closest friend at work.

Inject some attitude to those gadgets.

The color and style of gadgets in your office space in Reston VA does not automatically have to be black or gray for good. You can update your staid mouse with a more innovative and chic look. You can also find flash drives that come in the shape of cars or food. Read more on how to beautify your office space by going to tntmagazine.com for related posts.

Article Source:

http://www.articleside.com/business-articles/working-with-what-you-ve-got-improving-a-work-place-to-match-your-needs.htm - Article Side

Blake Mitchell - About Author:
For more details, search a Tysons VA office space,a Reston VA office space and a office space in Reston VA in Google for related information.

Article Keywords:
office space in reston va, reston va office space, tysons va office space

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!