Wow Your Guests with Our Amazing Wedding Decorations by Orange Events

Article published on March 2nd 2012 | Business

Youâ€™ve sent out the traditional Indian wedding cards for your marriage, and are now awaiting the celebrations of your big day. Other than the food and the wedding venue, it is also important to give a thought to wedding dÃ©cor. While some couples may gather their friends around to help decorate their wedding venue, most couples choose to hire the services of a professional Asian wedding planner.

If you are having an Asian wedding, you will probably have hundreds of invitees, multiple venues and numerous intricate customs to follow. Such large-scale weddings involve a huge amount of organisational skill. Even a simple task such as decorating tables could prove to be a big bother. Hence, it is better to leave all such organisational tasks to companies that specialise in providing Asian wedding services, so that you can concentrate on enjoying your big day in peace.

Orangevents is one of the leading Indian wedding planners in the United Kingdom. We have 46 years of experience behind us, and believe that no wedding is too big or too small for us to handle. Whether you have invited 500 or 3000 guests, our wedding planners will make the finest of arrangements, to ensure that your wedding is exclusive and memorable. From mandaps to wedding table decorations to entertainment acts, we deliver the highest standard. We can also create bespoke wedding packages to meet specific client needs.

One of the most important focal points of a Hindu wedding is the mandap, a canopy with four pillars under which the traditional marriage ceremony takes place. Orangevents offers an exquisite series of striking mandaps, which include charming traditional mandaps as well as mandaps with modern designs. Our mandap package includes a welcome gateway, carpets, pedestals, statues, backdrops and lighting. If you wish, we can also add optional accessories such as fresh floral arrangements.

The decorations at your wedding reception can be great conversation starters and make for great photos. Orangevents has a dazzling range of wedding reception decorations that match various wedding themes: traditional, chic, fun, elegant, modern or whatever else you need. This includes table decorations for weddings. Some types of wedding table decorations are personalised favours, chocolates, candles, crystals, ice melt table centres, and floral displays in the middle of karahi stands.
