If you are a writer in search for extra income, hereâ€™s a list of online business ideas for you. The Internet is tailored in such a way that you can earn from practically anything.

Internet Business Idea Number 1: CREATE A BLOG

It can be anything under the sun: make ups, dressing up, photography, chocolates, wines, etc. The thing is that you have to choose one concept and jive all of your articles in it. So that when people type, say, chocolate on any search engine, your site will be one on the list. The key here is to create traffic for your blog. Once you have generated a good amount of content and audience, advertisers will approve your site and then you can start earning money.

Internet Business Idea Number 2: PROOFREADING

Say youâ€™re a good writer, the next thing you can do is to proofread and edit someone elseâ€™s works. To become a proofreader you must have good knowledge of the language used and a keen eye for mistakes. You have to check for grammatical and spelling errors that the computer usually overlooks. You have to be well versed in proofreading methods and symbols.

To become an online proofreader all you need is a computer with spell check, and a high-speed Internet. You can start by building your business locally or online. If you are new to proofreading, itâ€™s best to gain some experience first. Offer a volunteer work for a friend who needs something to be proofread. You can also read magazines and newspapers and proofread their articles. Once you feel that youâ€™re ready, you can go forth the spread the message.

Start by posting on social networking sites or your own blog if you have any. You can also leave comments on other peopleâ€™s blog sites offering them your expertise.

Internet Business Idea Number 3: CREATE AN ONLINE FORUM

Browse for online forum sites and notice that these sites attract a lot of people. Good traffic attracts advertisers and having advertisers means earning money. If you have a good working knowledge of designing and building a website, you can try creating an online forum. You donâ€™t have to worry about the content because the users will do that for you. All you have to do is administer and monitor them.

Internet Business Idea Number 4: ENCODING

This one is a tedious job but it can get you a lot of dollar earnings. Try to search online for data entry jobs. You get paid for an average of $3 per 1,000 characters. All you have to do is to retype entries from receipts, medical transcriptions and the like. This one is a no-brainer but it can get your fingers tired. One tip is that you ask for help for some of your family members so that you can continuously earn even when you rest.

It is said that having your own business creates a better lifestyle design. So if you know hat you can write, try one of the ideas above and earn even while at home.
