Business Ideas that are free of Investment by Sam Richard

Article published on July 16th 2012 | Career

New business ideas are taking shape every minute, in some part of the world. And every business needs investments; some need big investments, while the others need smaller capital.

However, there are a few businesses which do not require any investment. They are established innovations, which are forthcoming and in demand.

1. Freelancing

Freelancing comprises copywriting, photography, graphic designing, web designing and many more businesses that wield a creative edge. There is no investment required, other than your acumen. You may face rigid competition, but once you stand out of the clutter; you can make your mark.

2. Travel and Tourism

Wielding a small travel and tourism company from home can be a smart way to do business. Investments are not required and clients can be dealt with, over the phone or online. The emergence of travel and tourism has raised the scope of Tourism Careers, making educational institutions comprise certified courses on travel and tourism.

3. Consulting and Training

With sheer experience and zero investment, professionals can help other amateurs and organizations to train themselves or their employees. Consider taking up a profession as a trainer in business communications, Business IT or any other discipline in technical skill set development.

4. Organizational Service

Being a wedding planner, or a professional service provider such as housekeeping, babysitting, catering etc. require bare investments and sometimes no investment at all. These businesses do not tend to go down with dwindling economies.

5. Tutoring

A very lucrative way to make money is by providing tuition. Helping children learn, grasp and understand their subjects. Also, teaching online is an advanced and investment-free technique to innovative business stature.

6. Online Business

Selling goods online, Internet marketing, blogging, link building, freelancing for internet businesses are a few options which can be handled from home with bare investments. The advent of Internet has facilitated growth of business and captivated many people.

7. Brokerage Services

There are a number of brokerage services one can venture into and the main source of income comprises of a good amount of commission. One can efficiently convince buyers, on behalf of vendors. There are a number of services you can consider such as - Real estate brokerage, business brokerage and investment brokerages are a few to name.

8. Virtual Assistance (VA)

A great way to earn is to help other people get a job. Using public domains, classified sites and joining a VA network to offer your services is a safe and inexpensive way of tackling your business. You can tie up with a company and help them find potential personnel online.

9. Intermediary Services

Distribution and sourcing of products and contracting services are intermediary services. It is an old business which has diminished over the years, but these few services will remain and there is a need for such businesses.

There are many more businesses which comprise bare investments. Today, the world is at a juncture where globalization has raised the bar of professionalism and modes of business. And it is hard to find a business or job which encompasses a bare outlay, yet lucrative outcomes.
