Going to an Interview, Come Her First by Sahil Goyal

Article published on December 20th 2011 | Career

If you are a fresh graduate seeking for a good job to start your career and you just received your first graduate interview invitation, it would be very helpful if you read some information about graduate recruitment process.

First of all, you need to know that having a graduate interview is much more than the actual 15 minutes of the interview. To get the graduate jobs you want, you will have to work on it before, during, and after the actual interview.

- Before the Interview

â€¢ Prepare a professional CV with detailed points about your objective of joining the company, your personal information, contacts and make sure to have a professional email for job applications only and education of course.

â€¢ Search for popular interview questions that are available online and make a list of the. Answer all these question in a paper and keep it with you for practice.

â€¢ Have a mock interview with the help of a friend or family member to help you prepare for the graduate job interview. If you donâ€™t have any one available, you can simply practice in front of a mirror. Practice is the key to good graduate interview, and donâ€™t forget to wear a nice smile while answering questions.

â€¢ Think of the clothes you are going to interview. You shouldnâ€™t be wearing jeans because youâ€™r young graduate. You have to wear professional suit for men or women, avoid excessive jewelry and accessories, and wear a light perfume. Ladies should wear light makeup and stay away from bright colors.

- The interview day

â€¢ Make sure to wake up early in the interview day, have a quick shower, and shave if you were a man.

â€¢ Have a quick look at the interview questions you were practicing â€¢ Go to the interview and try to be careful of your time. It is recommended to go early about 15 minutes before the appointment.

â€¢ Switch your cell phone off so that it doesnâ€™t cause any embracement â€¢ When you enter the interview room, smile and great everyone and donâ€™t sit until they ask you to. Answer all questions calmly and if you donâ€™t know any of the answers, donâ€™t be ashamed of it, and is also fine to ask your interviewer to repeat the question.

â€¢ When all the interview questions are done, ask any questions you have in mind and know when they will get back to you.

- After the interview

When the interview is over, send your interviewers a thank you not and show them your readiness to start working with them.

By this you would be the perfect applicant to graduate jobs and you will have a great edge over all those graduates who just show out of nothing with no preparation at all.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/career-articles/going-to-an-interview-come-her-first.htm - Article Side

Sahil Goyal - About Author:
Gradvantage is a social networking website for graduates and students, providing career information, graduate recruitment, graduate careers, a interview questions, job finding tools, company reviews and details of graduate and internship programs in Australia. For more information please visit: a graduate recruitment

Article Keywords:
graduate jobs,graduate,internship,graduate recruitment,graduate careers,graduate programs,company profiles,jobs forum,interview questions,company rev

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!