For any entrance exam, students are required to show their sincerity and dedication towards the gaining of entry into the courses or into the jobs. And this feature is seen by the manner in which people fill in the application form for the different exams.

In the present scenario, the forms for various entrance exams are filled up in two ways, such as the paper application forms and the online application form. With the online application form becoming easy to use and suitable for maintaining a uniformity in the application procedure, most of the entrance exam conducting body are going for this process preferable. Those which are planning on the transition are putting out options for both the processes.

For many exam conducting boards, the online application procedure has helped a lot and this is being seen in the exams conducted by UPSC, CBSE, Management boards, etc. Among these, the UPSC and its exams need a special mention because the recruitments by this commission are mostly done for the government posts in the officer cadre. NDA exam is one of the various exams conducted by the UPSC and for this, the NDA form is to be filled up through online means.

After the applicant establishes the eligibility criteria for the exam, the next step would be the filling of the form. NDA form by UPSC is possible to be filled by both online and offline modes.

Interested students can find the online application form in the official website of UPSC which is http://www.upsconline.nic.in/. This site is opened and the page of NDA application form is visited.

Here the candidates will find the required directions and instructions for the filling of the form. Few things that are required to be noted during the online application form are:

Payment of Rs 25/- towards the application form is to be done through net banking, debit or credit cards and by depositing the cash in any SBI counter. Photograph is to be scanned and attached to the NDA form but it should be in the .png format and should be of a file size of 40 kb. Besides, the notification date is to be filled up.

The offline form for NDA should be filled up carefully by using the HB pencils and there shouldnâ€™t be any over writing or any unnecessary lines because all the application forms are scanned in computers. Any kind of discrepancy will lead to rejection of the form, and therefore the students cannot sit for their NDA exams. All the requisite columns and information asked should be filled up completely, as the data alterations and absence of photograph and signature of the candidate will amount to rejection.

After the process of filling up of the application form for NDA is finished, it can be sent to the UPSC. Students should keep a note of the exam dates and any other number as provided in the instructions. Care should be taken to fill in the NDA form correctly or it would amount to rejection, causing the students a loss of a year. It also goes on to suggest the sincerity and seriousness with which the students are approaching their exams.
