Why is WBJEE So Much Revered by Students Interested for Technical Courses?

by Sanjay Kumar

Article published on January 16th 2012 | Career

Studying for technical courses in different colleges is a path that is being chosen by many in the present education scenario. People are going for technical courses because of the assurances of jobs and better pay packets along with the respect that comes with these jobs. Also, there is a prospect of great career paths and plenty of opportunities because major improvements in social and economical fronts are in the arena of technology.

For those who want to become doctors or medical personnel, can go for admissions in medical colleges and create a niche for selves in the society. Many people have yearned for such admissions and the path to success goes across the hurdle of entrance exams, which is a universally standardised procedure. Students in West Bengal have an opportunity to find the admissions in the best colleges of the state. As in many other parts of the country, the admissions to the engineering and medical colleges is through the entrance exam of West Bengal joint entrance exam or WBJEE which is conducted every year in the state.

The students with domicile in the state have a major portion of the seats in the colleges and remaining seats are filled up by those who qualify the all India entrance tests in engineering and medical. With regards to popularity, the WBJEE is the next, most sought after entrance exam after IIT, AIEEE and AIPMT. It is therefore natural that the test is appeared by almost all the eligible candidates in the state. The immense popularity of the test is because of the following reasons:

-The test allows the engineering and medical aspirants to study in the colleges in the state of West Bengal. As the candidates are required to have a domicile in the state, the test of WBJEE is a great channel for the deserving candidates from the state to take admissions in the colleges.

-The question pattern of the exam is based on the state board, the ICSE and CBSE courses of physics, chemistry, biology and mathematics, which is studied by the students during their 10+2 level. These subjects are read by the students for entire two years of 10+2 due to which they are needed to only refresh their memories. This kind of syllabus begets a uniformity of the exam and is considered a great way for entering into the colleges of their choices by the students.

-Plenty of seats in engineering are found in the engineering institutes of the state, which allows the aspiring candidates from the state to pursue their dream subjects. There are many colleges which are offering engineering streams as well as courses of MBBS and BDS in the medical colleges.

-Single exam of WBJEE is preferred by the students because through this exam, they can take admissions in any of the government colleges as well as the private or self financing institutes with engineering and medical courses. The single exam has the benefits of lower expenditure, less utilisation of time and less psychological pressure.

The WBJEE is one of such exams, which are awaited eagerly by the students in west Bengal, who want to go for the technical education in the state. Since everyone from the state can appear in the test, it is a great opportunity for the students to make a career by preparing sincerely for the exams.

Article Source:

http://www.articleside.com/career-articles/why-is-wbjee-so-much-revered-by-students-interested-for-technical-courses.htm - Article Side

Sanjay Kumar - About Author:
SarkariExam is the first job Portal in India dedicated to provide details of all Government Jobs. Explore a Government Jobs, a WBJEE, a OJEE and much more.

Article Keywords:
government jobs,wbjee ,ojee

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!