Dance Tights: Making a Performance Comfortable by Jessie

Article published on December 22nd 2011 | Clothing

For a successful dance performance the foremost thing is that the performers should be comfortable in their clothing. Very often the glamour of the stage demands flashy costumes and dresses with a flare. These dresses no matter how good they look on the stage are not always the most comfortable for a dancer. Most of the times, these dresses restrict the free movement of the body and also hinder certain steps of the dance. But there are now options that allow absolutely free and unrestrained movement to the dancers. There are body hugging tights and tops that let the performers move around flexibly and without any difficulty. Originally used as men's wear, tights have now emerged as one of the most popular options in dance clothing.

Dance has always been one of the most favorite hobbies of people all across the globe. Along with being a hobby, many people have been taking up dance as a profession. These professional dancers always look for clothing that is comfortable yet stylish. The cloth used for the rehearsal dresses should be skin friendly and should not cause any allergies or rashes. Dance tights are especially useful during the practice sessions when the dancers are not all that worried about the looks of the costumes. Most of the dances- whether it is jazz, ballet, waltz, free style or any other- can be practiced comfortably with dance tights as they allow free movement of the body.

There are different types of dance tights- the most common are the footed dance tights and the footless dance tights. Depending on the dance type, the dancers can choose any of them. Now, there are also dance tights that are fancy enough to be worn on the final performances. The designers are playing around with colors and designs and are coming up with more interesting stuff that are suitable for a flashy performance. There are shimmery tights that look great on stage. There are also body wrappers that you can wear underneath your main costume. Capri tights, ankle length tights, seamless tights, stirrup tights etc. are few of the varieties that are popularly used in dance practice sessions and performances too.
