

Article published on May 30th 2012 | Clothing

Designer suits are getting more popular day by day as more and more women want to look stylish and beautiful. Today designer clothes are available for easily for everyone, they are not only for elites anymore. As far as Salwar suits are concerned, both Indians and Pakistanis are quite popular among women all around the world for its wide variety of designs, fabrics and patterns and they are quite affordable as well. Considering designer suits popularity, many Indians and Pakistanis renowned designers launch their latest collections every year in the different fashion events across the globe. The reason behind the popularity of these suits is, they are very comfortable yet a woman looks elegant and exquisite while wearing them. About a decade or two ago only middle class women used to wear these suits. But as the many famous designers came into the picture and launched their designer and fashionable suits, they became popular among women belong to the rich and elite classes as well.

Today there are many kind of designer suits are available for women across the world and that enable them to choose a design they like to wear.

Anarkali Suits –“ When it comes to Salwar kameez there are various designs that are being incorporated in these traditional outfits but one latest style which has already become a craze among women is popularly called as the Anarkali style. For the last couple of years Anarkali suits have been ruling the market and now they are the most preferred type of designer suits by women. It is quite evident by the name that these suits are named after the famous dancer Anarkali who used to dance in the court of Mughal emperor Akbar. Over the years these suits went through many innovations and now they are most charming and stylist ones.

Short Kurtas –“ These types of suits are also very popular among Indian women especially among those who have slim body. It gives a different look as these kurtas are shorter in length than traditional suits.

Western Style Designer Suits –“ Indian traditional suits have evolved a lot in the past decade and one can see western influence on them as well as the kurtas and kurtis have become tighter than ever.

Today a wide range of ladies designer suits are available in the market such as printed lawns, embroidered fabrics, formal and semi formal wears, casual wears and customized suits.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/clothing-articles/different-types-of-designer-suits-available-for-women.htm> - Article Side

Dev Kumar - About Author:

Sumaaya The Designer Studio offers a wide range of Pakistani a Designer Suits in India. Visit www.suumaya.in now, their product range includes Embroidered Fabrics, a Formal Wear and suits from renowned Pakistani designers and brands.

Article Keywords:

Designer Suits, Pakistani Suits, Formal Wear, Ladies Suits, Suits for Women

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!