Itâ€™s normal to see different body shapes in the street. But what make it unbelievable is that almost the girls with the same somatotype in the same style of cloth. And they look pretty to our eyes. The secret is that there is dressing code aiming at disparate body shapes.

Petite

Many petite girls often get into the trouble in which they canâ€™t show the beauty of the clothing for their slight skeletons. In my opinion, girls with that body figure should feel lucky! Maybe itâ€™s hard to be hot, but you can be cute. Just make sure whichever attire you chooses, should be made of a light fabric, and don't opt for junior formal outfits that are too elaborate, as too much fabric will not enhance your shape. Your bust can be enhanced by a well fitted dress; short attire or one that comes just above your knees is ideal, as you should aim to show off your legs to appear taller. Your thin legs can be showed off in a short outfit which just above your knee.

Pear Shaped

An A-lined outfit is the best option for a pear shaped girl. A well tailored wear with a fitted top will just be perfect. At this situation, you should be confident for your upper part of your body. Then an A-lined empire chiffon dress is just made for you. Because it can cover the defects of your body and highlight the flash points of your upper body. Ball gowns which are in fashion also work. I prefer halter neck attire, which gracefully and elegantly falls on the lower half.

Apple Shaped

A full bust and a thick waist are the obvious signature of an apple body form. You have the savers which are an empire waist and a 'V' neck just like the above. In that, your body shape gives a much slimmer look. You can show your legs if you like and purchase short attire on condition that you waist appear slim. When it comes to an end, then a plus size gown will be a good choice like a plus size dress for homecoming.

On the D day, I sincerely hope those suggestions can lend you a hand. Enjoy your every day ignoring whatever body shape you have. Actually, the most beautiful people are the healthiest people. And you can find more surprise in astylishprom.
