How to Choose a Flattering Modern Prom Gown by Annabel

Article published on June 4th 2012 | Clothing

With the definitions of fashion changing every time, the prom wears is no exception and it seems that it is changing in each aspect of fashion. Many girls would like to get a modern prom dress 2012. Keep on reading and the content below will give some tips on the options available in modern clothes for the special occasion.

Styles

Outfits for proms are all about colors, silhouettes and mainly about what's your style. It can be flattering strapless sweetheart, stylish one shoulder or elegant halter and wear what fits your style and body shape. The runway fashion is popularly followed this season which includes mermaid or trumpet, sheath or column, princess as well as A-line. Any pattern that can show off your best features and make your most charming side highlighted should be landed on the list of the best choice. For example, if you are a petite girl, it is a good idea to opt for a fabulous skirt with empire waist line which will lengthen the proportion of your body, creating a taller and slimmer look. So, it is easy to become a favorite in the closet for petites.

Colors

Color is another crucial factor that you should take into consideration when choosing. You could experiment with various colors to match their dresses with the special color theme. If you are going to wear a white outfit, it is suggested that adding a splash of dark color to your attire should be the most popular trend. If you look forward to creating a dramatic look, a two-tone prom gown with a colored bodice is sure to add to your beauty. Make sure the color you are fond of can go well with your skin tone and hair color.

Fabrics

Modern prom dresses won't be finished without the use of beads, ruffles, or bows. Apart from that, for the bodices, you can see huge bows and beaded belts to complement the waist lines. If you are suffering the puzzle of which style will look great on you, it is totally unnecessary and the patterns with delicate ruching will flatter you well. In addition, for youthful girls, the skirt with colored tulle or layers is sure to add to the drama. Generally speaking, chiffon, taffeta and tulle are regarded as the most popular fabrics used in modern attire for the particular occasion. Especially, light chiffon which is comfortable to wear is quite welcome and preferred in the special season.

I believe that each girl hopes to become the center of attention in the exciting night and the prom gowns are all about expressing your unique personal style. You really have a wide range of option and a way to add your special taste in your modern wear.
