Article published on January 20th 2012 | Clothing

It is your fatherâ€™s birthday a couple of days later and this time, you are greatly lagging behind. Unlike other years, you still havenâ€™t figured out what to do to make him feel special and still havenâ€™t bough nice present for him.

On his previous birthdays, it was you who made all the arrangements for the occasion before hand and gave him a surprise (of which he is always aware of and which has almost become a custom that is performed every year just as the clock struck 12).

This time your professional life has kept you so busy that you do not even have time to breathe. You cannot even take time out even if you wish to. This time you do not even know how the months passed by so quickly and how fast his birthday came knocking at the door. But your mind does not permit you to give these excuses to your dad although you know that these are anything but excuses. You know how draining it has been for you. But you cannot afford these things come between you and the greatest teacher of your life. You cannot allow the crisis of time spoil the day that comes only once a year and gives you a chance to celebrate with your biggest support and mentor of your life.

You plan to call it a day at work but eventually but your work simply does not let you do that. But you still put in whatever it takes and manage to wrap up the work. You have given him shaving kits, designer pens, watches, perfumes, shoes and leather accessories like wallets, laptop bags, travel bags, etc. Your stock of gift ideas has got totally exhausted and you just donâ€™t know what to give as a present this time.

And then a hoarding across the street comes to your rescue and acts as the saving grace. You instantly know what you are gifting him. A crisp white shirt made of the linen fabric. Pure and natural. Pristine and holy. That would be the perfect gift for the best dad in the world.

You have always wondered what is so special about linen fabrics and so you quickly drop into a store which boasts of a huge collection of clothings made of linen fabric. You are then told of the amazing properties of linen fabrics and convinced that you have indeed zoomed in on the right thing. So without further ado, you start shopping for a nice linen shirt for him.

Article Source:
http://www.articleside.com/clothing-articles/linen-fabric-feels-cool-to-the-touch.htm - Article Side

Yogita Bali - About Author:
Authorâ€™s Bio: Yogita has penned down different write-ups on linen and its benefits. In this article she briefly describes the many things concerning a linen fabrics .

Article Keywords:
linen fabric, linen fabrics, fabric stores, linen fabric manufacturers in india, linen fabric suppliers

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!