Linen Shirts Men by Abhishek Gupta

Article published on July 4th 2012 | Clothing

Linen is a very comfortable fabric. Those who live in countries with hot and humid weather know how important they are to their daily lifestyle. Being a natural fiber, linen and cotton are probably the two fabrics that render the wearer comfortable in humidity. They absorb moisture quickly and dry up fast as well. Hence they are perfect for daywear, when chances of perspiration are the highest. Because of these reasons, linen shirts for men are very popular. They are great for office wear and nothing can be better than the sight of a starched and ironed, crisp linen shirt.

Linen shirts can be worn on any occasion. They can be worn absolutely white, which looks pristine and smart with a well cut tuxedo. If you are wearing one by itself, then you can opt for stripes and checks. Pastel or light shades like blue, grey, light yellow also looks fresh and refreshing. You can easily change from the day look to the night look with the help of accessories. Slip on a chunky belt, leave your shirt loose or tucked as you wish, change your shoes, do away with the tie- pin and you are ready for a casual evening out. However, you have to take good care of linen shirts as well to last you long.

By itself, linen is quite tough. It is resistant to bleaching though it is advisable not to soak them in harsh detergents, especially the colored ones. Washing and ironing it regularly does not weaken the fabric, contrary to popular belief. Only when the fabric turns very old, do the fibers start to loosen up. If you are hard pressed for time, you can easily opt for the crease- free varieties which are ideal for daily wear. They do not need regular ironing and can be worn straight after a wash. Linen shirts for men are now available at very affordable pricing as well. It is possible to get a set of two or three shirts at a very affordable rate. And there is not much difference in the quality either as being a natural fiber, it is hardly much tampered with.

So if you are updating your wardrobe for your office and outside work, then do opt for some good linen shirts. They will save the day anytime and it is hard to find a fabric that is so universal and that may be worn anywhere.
