

Article Side

Reusable Shopping Bags Make Attractive Gift Bags by Benjaminadam

Article published on December 28th 2011 | Clothing

The Christmas season is definitely more jolly in addition to greener than in the past as quite a few people are finding ways to make their Christmas more environmentally friendly. A freshly released questionnaire of numerous US citizens older than 18 produced some very favorable results. As indicated by a PRNewsWire.com report, nearly fifty four percent of adults in the country said that they are seeking to use artificial Christmas trees instead of a real tree. The survey was conducted online within the US from November 14th to November 16th, 2011. The effort was taken by CouponCabin and Harris Interactive. Over two thousand adults in the United States were surveyed on a random basis.

The leading 2 triggers for this modification are environmental consciousness and also cost cutting. This double benefit received from selecting artificial trees has made a number of people psyched. Artificial Christmas trees are usually less expensive than real ones and also help preserve the environment. Thirty-six percent of those aiming to embellish artificial Christmas trees this Christmas season did so basically because they believe it will help the environment. At 63%, the bigger number of individuals stated they were selecting artificial trees to save cash. Nearly 43% of the people surveyed stated that they were considering using environment friendly strategies this Christmas season.

Green equals saving money!

The constrained economic situation has led many to reevaluate their expenses; and transitioning to environmentally friendly strategies has worked in their favor. As more folks are realizing the short term in addition to long term perks of being environmentally friendly, they're even more prepared to embrace these measures. Apart from an original capital investment to install greener appliances in your home, it was discovered that by incorporating smart practices, they were able to save a lot of resources as well as money. 42% of the questionnaire participants deemed that they can save much more money by taking the green road.

Lighting up your tree the green way

Picking out an artificial Christmas tree isn't the only method to green this year. You can easily engage in greener measures this Christmas season and make attempts to keep it going throughout the year. As well as the artificial tree, you might also choose energy-efficient lights to embellish it. In lieu of keeping them lit all of the time, you can certainly attach a timer to the lights make sure that the lights are activated only when required. In case you opt to use real Christmas trees, you need to be sure that the tree is discarded in an environmentally friendly method. Look for as many methods to recycle and reuse the tree by composting it or replanting it in your backyard.

Making gifts green

It is not only individuals who are taking the extra step to live green but also environment friendly shops in addition to businesses. 19% of the survey participants said that they are more apt to buy items as holiday gifts from an green company than from a company which is not. In place of choosing gift wrapping paper and boxes for every single present, it's possible to pack your presents in eco friendly bags & recyclable grocery bags. They are charming and can be used for shopping for groceries on a daily basis. You are in a roundabout way helping others minimize the wastage of plastic bags too.

Article Source:

<http://www.articleside.com/clothing-articles/reusable-shopping-bags-make-attractive-gift-bags.htm> - Article Side

Benjaaminadam - About Author:

In place of choosing gift wrapping paper and boxes for every single present, it's possible to pack your presents in a eco friendly bags & a recyclable grocery bags. They are charming and can be used for shopping for groceries on a daily basis. You are in a roundabout way helping others minimize the wastage of plastic bags too.

Article Keywords:

recyclable grocery bags, eco friendly bags

You can find more free articles on Article Side. Sign up today and share your knowledge to the community! It is completely FREE!