The education that goes into being a doctor is not only lengthy but is also very intricate. Hundreds of thousands of students appear in medical entrance exams every year, to find a seat in various medical colleges in the country. These students belong to every state in India and are from various socio-economic backgrounds. But all have a common aim of excelling in the entrance exams and getting into medical colleges in the country, so that they come out with flying colors as doctors.

Be it the general physicians or the dentists, the course study is challenging but rewarding at the end of it all. To cater to the huge number of medical aspirants in the country, there are many medical colleges in India, almost in every state. Some of the states have more number of colleges while some have few, if the population of the respective states are considered.

Among the various states in the country, Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Bihar have a comparatively larger population. These states are located in the central region of the country and are in the stage of rapid development. This means that the medical aspirants are also high in number, due to which the medical colleges in these states have been started.

To cater to the large number of students, medical colleges in Uttar Pradesh have been playing a formative role. Lakhs of students appear in the entrance exams conducted by the state so that these medical aspirants can take up admissions in the government run colleges and the private medical institutions. These colleges take up admissions through the state entrance exams and also have reservations for students who wish to take admissions in the medical colleges in Uttar Pradesh through the all India entrance exams.

Some of the colleges in Uttar Pradesh are Chhatrapati Sahuji Maharaj Medical University, Institute of Medical Sciences-BHU, GSVM Medical College, Maharani Laxmi Bai Medical College, Motilal Nehru Medical College, to name a few. The state of Madhya Pradesh also caters to a wide number of students because of the large population residing in the state. To enable the students from these states to study in the medical colleges, the government and the private organisations have helped in the opening of many medical colleges. These medical colleges in Madhya Pradesh have been established since a long time and have put a mark in the education system of the state.

For the people, these medical colleges in Madhya Pradesh also serve as a benefit because of the treatments of various diseases that are possible in these colleges. In Bihar also, the medical colleges have been serving the purpose of admitting the students and providing treatment to the millions of residents of the state. The medical colleges in Bihar are striving to directly and indirectly improve the health status of the country and this is the scenario, purpose and the success story of all the medical colleges in the country.

Over the years, the medical colleges in the states of Uttar Pradesh, Madhya Pradesh and Bihar have been carrying out these functions with unprecedented success. Not only the students are able to study medicine and other subjects in the medical stream, but the people in these states get access to high quality tertiary care in these medical colleges.
