When I was in college, it was so difficult for me to write my paper. Even, if the topics were too easy and my friend, James, always tried hard to help me out. But writing an essay paper was mission impossible for me. I used to prepare the essays copying the materials from books, journals and from internet and then tried to rephrase it. This practice always made my professor sick and I never got any worthy grade that time. So, I often search for help on essay writing.

My situation got worst when I was asked to write final term paper. James was seriously ill in those days and deadline was approaching so fast. While I was already messed up with my paper, James called me and asked me to write my paper too. I was shocked and helpless but I couldn't say "no" to him. He always helped me in writing essays and assignments. I said, "OK" and started thinking about what can be done. I can't take any risk for his assignment. He was a marvelous student and always got A+ in every subject.

I knew, custom essays can be bought online. But the problem is to find the reliable essay writing website that can provide original and plagiarism free work. Internet is full of scammers. I was wondering whether I could find such a website or any writer who may provide original essay writing help. I searched on Google and Yahoo, gone through several websites, talked to dozens of sales agents but couldn't trust on anyone.

Next day, I got an email from Sr. Customer Relation Manager of OriginalEssayWriting.com. He promised me to provide me a perfect piece of paper. I got it further confirmed whether they are able to meet my requirements by sending them the specifications of my paper via email. Then I got their confirmation within a few minutes that they can certainly write my paper as per my expectations. My other problem was to get written two unique papers on similar topic and specifications. I discussed this matter to their customer relation agent. They advised me that they will assign both papers to different writers. So that I could get two different papers on the same topic.

I decided to give them a try. I placed an order with them. They said; just relax while my papers are being written by experts. However, I was too depressed and not sure what the outcome would be. In the next few days, I got both papers in my inbox well before the deadline I gave them. I downloaded both papers and saved on my desktop. Read both papers thoroughly word by word, one by one. While I was reading the papers, I checked it for grammar, spelling, writing flow, sentence structures, relevancy of information and compliance. I checked the originality of both papers on turnitin.com and was amazed with the 0% similarity score. I was too happy; I didn't find any error in any paper. I was still in process of reading and checking the paper; I got another email from them informing me that they are ready to make any required changes in the paper free of cost. I was impressed not only with the perfection of their work but also with their professionalism.
