Visualize reaching home late after a busy day at the office. Suddenly you remember late at night of making an urgent call to your relative located far away. You only realize that your prepaid mobile has run out of balance. At this time, retail shops where you could get a recharge have closed down. What do you do? This is the situation that many a prepaid mobile subscriber faces when they need to make an urgent call. Thanks to the online recharge facility. You can recharge your mobile with the desired plan in seconds. You can either visit the corporate site of your subscriber directly or visit a third party recharge website. And there you are all ready to make your urgent call. It will be wise on your part to recharge your mobile before the balance gets exhausted.

Subscribers only get benefited given the fact that counted few network operators offer online recharge offers at their corporate sites. Yes, you can get extra talk time as part of the online recharge offers. The extra talk time you enjoy all depends on the recharge denomination you choose. For example, here is one operator that provides Rs. 90 talk time for Rs. 80, Rs. 200 talk time for Rs. 170, Rs. 410 talk time for Rs. 340, and Rs. 580 talk time for Rs. 470. Well, you may not avail such offers with a recharge at the retail outlet. There are many subscribers who look for such online recharge offers and thus stay connected for extra minutes or hours with people who matter to them the most.

Call rates in India are one of the lowest when compared to other countries of the world. It is prepaid rather than post paid connections that offer real value to subscribers. And with offers such as free phone calls, online recharge offers with extra talk time, STVs, the call rates further go down. It is no surprise if you get to enjoy call rates in India at local circles at 1 paise for every two seconds. You only get the best value for your money irrespective of whether you make local, STD or ISD calls. Not all network operators offer cost effective tariff plans every now and then round the year. Those that offer them do gain a competitive advantage of adding increased subscribers to its list. Well, if you do not get an STV, you will hardly enjoy low call rates in India no matter which network operator you choose.

What about prepaid roaming? If you buy an STV, you may enjoy prepaid roaming that is included in the plan. So, no paying extra! In case, you do not have balance and yet have lifetime validity, you cannot enjoy prepaid roaming even for incoming calls. Do remember to recharge your mobile before you travel out of your circle so that you do not face calling hassles later. And then the day is not far when prepaid roaming would be free. Thanks to government initiatives!
